

It is reported Tuesday that elements of a force of 3,000 North Vietnamese troops laid siege to the U.S. Army "Green Beret" camp at Kham Duc in the Central Highlands Friday, killing 19 Americans and wounding 96. The Communists also shot down a transport plane as it was carrying wounded away from the battle. (UPI Telephoto)

Red gunners down planes

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese who overran a Special Forces camp in the far north shot down nine U.S. aircraft, including a C130 transport that carried six American crewmen and possibly 150 South Vietnamese to their deaths. This would be the world's worst air disaster.

The story of what happened at Kham Duc was told by U.S. officers Tuesday, two days after the storm of battle broke over that camp only 30 miles southwest of Da Nang, the big South Vietnamese and U.S. Marine base.

The fact that officers reported about 5,000 enemy troops launched the attack showed that the North Vietnamese still operate freely in the area despite U.S. claims that their main supply base was destroyed in the A Shau Valley to the north.

The C130 was hit Sunday as it took off with South Vietnamese irregulars and their families, crashed into a mountain in enemy territory and exploded. A U.S. source said the plane was believed loaded to its capacity of about 150 passengers and as far as is known there were no survivors.

If the report is confirmed this would be three times the toll of the worst previous crash in Vietnam. The world's worst civilian disaster was the collision of two airliners over New York City Dec. 16, 1960 that crash killed 134 persons.

A second C130 was hit as it was landing at Kham Duc but its six-man crew survived. Five Marine helicopters, a U.S. fighter-bomber and a light observation plane was downed Friday, when the camp came under sheer fire, and Sunday. There were no details on survivors or the number aboard.

U.S. Army and Marine officials said the plane was believed loaded to its capacity of about 150 passengers and as far as is known there were no survivors.

Demos stall state college aid move

HARRISBURG (AP) — The House, in a rare parliamentary move, threw out a roll call on a controversial bill Tuesday after minority Democrats charged that the chamber's rules had been violated.

The Republican-sponsored bill would have authorized counties to borrow money and provide financial assistance for capital improvements at state colleges and state-related universities.

The measure appeared to have the bare 102 votes necessary for passage, but opposing Democrats challenged the roll call and asked for a new one.

Acting Speaker H. Jack Seltzer, R-Lebanon, refused to order another roll call, but after Democrats persisted the vote was set aside and final action postponed.

It marked a victory, temporarily at least, for Minority Leader Herbert P. Hefner, D-Philadelphia, and the Democratic side which earlier had tried unsuccessfully to amend the bill.

The legislation was sponsored by Rep. Matthew J. Ryan, R-Delaware, who said the commissioners in his home county wanted to provide funds for a new branch campus of Pennsylvania State University.

Rep. James J. A. Gallagher, D-Bucks, offered an amendment that would have required that such aid receive the approval of the State Board of Education, which opposed establishment of the Penn State branch.

The debate on the amendment rekindled the fires of controversy over the relative merits of Penn State's network of branch campuses and the state's system of 2-year community colleges.

State Bell strike ended

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The 20-day strike against the Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania ended shortly after midnight this morning with agreement on new contracts that will provide a 19.8 per cent increase in telephone workers' wages over the next three years.

Negotiators for the company and the independent Federation of Telephone Workers of Pennsylvania representing 13,000 Bell employees said the contracts covering plant, service department and accounting employees will cost bell $22.4 million.

The agreement was announced after the union and company accepted a complicated formula covering strike-connected discharges and suspensions of employees, the last bar to settlement.

Bell said the union promised pickets would be removed and strikers would return to work as soon as possible.

Under terms of the contracts, increases in basic annual wages will range from $572 to $1,560 by the second anniversary of the contracts' effective date.

Minimum weekly wage increases will range from $11 to $18 over the life of the contracts while maximum weekly wage increases will range from $16 to $26. The increase will be applied in three steps: now, 12 months from now and 24 months from now.

N. Vietnam takes hard line, won't ransom bombing pause

PARIS (AP) — A spokesman for North Vietnam's chief envoy at the Paris peace talks declared Tuesday "no ransom will be paid to the American aggressor" for an end to all U.S. attacks on his country.

Thus Xuan Thuy, the North Vietnamese diplomat, made known a refusal to yield to U.S. requests that North Vietnam show restraint in return for a complete bombing pause.

"The United States must stop all bombing," his spokesman, Nguyen Van Sao, told reporters as the negotiations took a break after the opening session Monday.

But the play failed to deter Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, the American negotiator. He said he had been "hard at work with a microscope" going over Thuy's opening policy statement of Monday. "We have got to find some basis on which to move ahead," Harriman added.

The negotiators go into the second round of their talks Wednesday in France's International Conference Center.

The Hanoi spokesman also asserted it was a U.S. "slander" to say North Vietnamese were fighting in South Vietnam. Asked about this, Harriman replied that the presence of North Vietnamese in South Vietnam had been established, some had been captured, and added: "I don't know why they keep up this fiction."

Comment and action hearing on the Paris talks came from these distant places:

—In Washington President Johnson acknowledged Harriman's team faces "very hard negotiations" in the bid to silence the guns in Vietnam.

—In Moscow the state radio claimed Red China's Mao Tse-tung told Thuy frostily he considered "it was erroneous that Hanoi agreed to meet" the Americans. So far Peking's information organs have blacked out all word of the talks.

—In London Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart announced plans to visit Moscow May 22 for two day talks with his Soviet opposite number Andrei A. Gromyko. As cochairmen of the rusting Indo-Chinese conference machinery, the two men would share the task of convening any new, wider peace-conference that Thuy and Harriman might agree upon.

Thuy has said he wants "a clear and positive answer" from Harriman on whether the Americans will quit bombing and all other acts of war against North Vietnam.

If the Americans agree, he has said, the two sides can move on then to "other problems of interest," meaning wider peace issues. If the Americans decline, or equivocate, he added, that there can be no progress.

110 teachers stay away from school

NEW YORK (AP) — About 110 teachers refused to go to their classrooms in a mostly Negro junior high school in Brooklyn Tuesday, as adult Negro demonstrators again prevented five white teachers from entering the building.

More than 200 policemen stood by, but made no move to escort the teachers into J.H.S. 271—part of an eight-school experimental project intended to demonstrate how neighborhood control will improve schools and reduce racial tensions.

Police said the citywide Board of Education first asked officers to escort the five teachers into J.H.S. 271, past 30 to 40 Negroes who were blocking the entrances, but then withdrew the request because "negotiations" were under way. The Negro demonstrators included some parents and some representatives of the Congress of Racial Equality.

Albert Shanker, president of the A.F.L.-C.I.O. United Federation of Teachers, accused Mayor John V. Lindsay, who wants the school system decentralized, of refusing to give the signal to police.

The 110 teachers who refused to work stood outside the school, along with the police and about 200 spectators and newsmen.

Reagan cuts into Nixon's vote total

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-NY swept to an impressive victory Tuesday in the Nebraska presidential primary, dealing a crushing blow to his chief ballot rival, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn.

Former Vice President Richard M. Nixon ran away with the Republican race, although California Gov. Ronald Reagan surprised by chalking up nearly a fourth of the GOP vote.

Kennedy, striving for a majority of the Democratic vote in a state that gave his late brother, John F. Kennedy the lowest percentage support in 1960, whirled off to an early lead. He saw-sawed around 50 per cent of the total party vote with outlying rural areas where he might not be as strong remaining to be tabulated.

McCarthy, said the Nebraska outcome would not deter him from trying to bolster his faltering drive for the presidential nomination in the Oregon, California and South Dakota primaries.

His supporters said in advance that they would be satisfied with 30 per cent of the Democratic vote, and that was about where he was riding as the tabulations mounted.

Douglas County (Omaha) has about 26 per cent of the state's voters. Kennedy was topping McCarthy 60-40 in that area but was not expected to maintain that average when rural areas contributed to the count.

At 8 p.m. CDT, NBC projected a Kennedy victory with the forecast that he might get more than 50 per cent of the Democratic vote. The Network said that on the basis of sample precincts Nixon seemed likely to rack up two-thirds of the Republican total.

CBS and ABC both projected a Kennedy victory. CBS said he would get at least 50 per cent of the vote, but ABC projected less than a majority for him.

The count from 416 of the state's 2,133 precincts was: Democratic Kennedy 19,109, or 53 per cent of the vote counted; McCarthy 10,463, or 29 per cent; Humphrey 3,678, or 10 per cent; Johnson 1,917, or 5 per cent.

Republican—Nixon 23,799, or 69 per cent; Reagan 8,280, or 24 per cent; Rockefeller 1,696, or 5 per cent.

Vice President Hubert H. H. Humphrey, who looms as Kennedy's chief rival for the nomination, got only about a tenth of the Democratic vote on a write-in that he publicly discouraged.

President Johnson, who quit the contest too late to get his name off the ballot, was polling about half of Humphrey's total.

But the first scattered returns in separate races to fill delegate rolls to cast the state's 30 convention delegates gave a slight edge to uncommitted candidates, most of whom might wind up in Humphrey's camp.

McCarthy delegates also were leading as well as some still running under Johnson's colors.

Kennedy renewed his invitation to McCarthy to work together with him to change the course of the Democratic Party.

But McCarthy said he was going to contest the primaries in Oregon and in California, where he contends the vital tests will come.

Nation honors heroes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A solemn President Johnson inducted four Medal of Honor winners into the Pentagon's new "Hall of Heroes" Tuesday and voiced hope that the current Paris talks will lead to "peace with honor."

Johnson decorated a soldier, an airman, a sailor and a Marine with the Medal of Honor—all for extraordinary heroism at personal peril—as he helped dedicate the hall. There the names of 3,210 men who have achieved the nation's highest decoration are displayed.

Speaking to some 5,000 people thronging the Pentagon's inner court, Johnson said:

"As we meet here, other men—in Paris—are beginning the very hard negotiations that we hope will one day silence the guns in a free Vietnam."

"Diplomacy's painful work now is to forge, from the fires of hostility, the way in which men can live without conflict and in mutual accord."

"The world prays that the way to peace will be found at that distant table—the peace with honor for which these men, and their comrades have fought so long, and so nobly."

In sequence, Johnson hung the Medal of Honor suspended from pale blue ribbons, around the necks of:

Army Spec. 5 Charles Chris Hagemeister of Lincoln, Neb.

Marine Sgt. Richard Allan Pittman of Stockton, Calif., who got into service after battling a draft board 4F rating for bad eyesight.

Navy boatswain's mate 1st Class James E. Williams of Darlington, S.C.

Air Force Capt. Gerald O. Young of Anacortes, Wash.

These decorations brought to 37 the number of Medals of Honor conferred on U.S. fighting men in the Vietnam war.

Standing in the background, yielding the spotlight to the young fighting men were the four-star members of Joint Chiefs of Staff and the highest civilian officials.

State's financial rating improved

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania's credit rating has been upped to A-1, a middle ground between the double-A it formerly held and the single-A to which it was lowered.

Gov. Shafers' office took note Tuesday of the new rating by Moody's Investors' Service, a prestigious Wall Street bond rating firm.

Stresses national freedom

Romania wild over DeGaulle

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — Hundreds of thousands of Romanians cheered President Charles de Gaulle on his arrival in Bucharest Tuesday. And he told them what they wanted to hear in their quarreling with the Soviet Union, stressing national freedom from any power bloc.

The French president was greeted by the Romanian President and party leader, Nicolae Ceausescu, who in welcoming remarks picked up De Gaulle's theme of small-power independence.

"What Romania and France must do, and can do, to contribute to the grandeur of Europe and therefore to the world's grandeur will be the subject of our conversation," De Gaulle told an airport audience.

Obviously referring to Romania's policy tending toward political and economic independence from Moscow, De Gaulle declared that Romanian friendship with France "is more important today than ever before as Europe is beginning to re-establish itself in the independence of each of its nations."

Some of the wildest cheers came when he suddenly threw up his arms and said in memorized Romanian: "I bring you, my dear friends, the best wishes of the French people who greet you from the bottom of their hearts."

De Gaulle and Ceausescu will hold two formal meetings Wednesday and on Saturday, after the French president returns to the capital from a two-day provincial tour.

They will confer privately on major questions while Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and Romanian Deputy Foreign Minister Gheorghe Mavrocovescu discuss details of economic and cultural cooperation. Elaborate arrangements for the visit brought out hundreds of thousands of shirt-sleeved Romanians into the streets in simulating heat along the six-mile route from Banescu Airport to De Gaulle's residence at a government guest house.

Riding with Ceausescu in an open limousine, De Gaulle received a triumphant welcome from crowds. The people shouted, "Long Live De Gaulle!" and "Long Live Romanian-French Friendship!"

President Charles de Gaulle, left, listens as Romanian Pres. Nicolae Ceausescu speaks during welcoming ceremonies at Bucharest Airport Tuesday. With flags flying, students occupy French universities

PARIS (AP) — Flying the red and black flags of rebellion and anarchy, students occupied most of France's 18 universities Tuesday in a seizure that Premier Georges Pompidou called an international plot and a "trial of our civilization."

Shaken by the rebellion and a censure motion, Pompidou went before the National Assembly with offers of new concessions to the students. Virtually all their original demands were met.

Referring to the seizures and rioting last week in Paris' Latin

Quarter, the premier said: "I see no precedent in our history other than in the hopelessly period of the 15th century, where the structures of the Middle Ages were collapsing."

He said the rebellion involved "individuals, backed by important financial means, with material adapted to street fighting, apparently belonging to an international organization. I do not think I am straying in thinking they are aiming at not only creating subversion in Western countries, but at causing trouble in Paris even at the moment when our capital has become the meeting place for peace in the Far East."

The government apparently was hinting that Red China would like the unrest to force the collapse of negotiations between the United States and North Vietnam.

Closed during last week's rioting, the Sorbonne reopened Tuesday, but students had no classes. They played red and black flags in the hands of statues of Louis Pasteur and Victor Hugo, dangled their legs out of windows, called for revolution and listened to a youth playing jazz on a grand piano set up in the Sorbonne.

Pompidou acknowledged there were some good reasons behind the disorder.

Lynda Bird Robb, daughter of President Johnson, is expecting her first child in October, the White House announced Tuesday. Lynda and her husband, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, who is in Vietnam "are delighted." The couple is shown here when Robb departed for Vietnam March 30. (UPI Telephoto)

Lynda Bird Robb expecting LBJ's second grandchild

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's 24-year-old daughter, Lynda Bird Robb, is expecting her first baby in late October.

The White House made the announcement Tuesday after weeks of rumors that Lynda was pregnant.

Both Lynda and her Marine captain husband, Charles S. Robb, 28, were reported "delighted about it." Elizabeth Carpenter, press secretary to the First Lady, made the announcement shortly after Lynda's return from a Mother's Day weekend with her parents at the LBJ ranch in Texas.

Capt. Robb knew about it before he departed on March 30 for 13 months duty in Vietnam, Mrs. Carpenter said.

This will be the second grandchild for President and Mrs. Johnson. Their younger daughter, Luci, 20, and her husband Airman 1c Patrick J. Nugent, are the parents of a ten-month-old son, Patrick Lyndon, born last June 21.

Lynda, a bride of five months, has been reluctant to confirm the rumors of her impending motherhood. When reporters asked her about it recently she turned them aside with the comment: "You've been asking me that since Dec. 10."

The Robbs were married in a White House ceremony last Dec. 9. They spent their honeymoon in the Virgin Islands and then set up housekeeping in a rented house in Arlington, Va.

Robb is now on duty in command of a Marine rifle company, operating near Da Nang in Vietnam.

Lynda returned to live in the White House and to resume her part-time job writing for McCall's magazine.

Your Horoscope

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Handle your schedule efficiently but give yourself time for investigation, observation of flaws in method. Some revisions may be necessary. Don't reject suggestions arbitrarily.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Make time count now. Whether handling large or small matters, don't be sidetracked by non-essentials. This is the time to advance a new idea which could benefit many.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini) — Mild influences. It will be largely up to you whether the day turns out satisfactorily or otherwise. Use discretion in all matters. Don't rely on guesswork — be SURE.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Generous lunar influences continue. This should be a good day for superior work performance and other gainful endeavors. Avoid tension and distractions, however.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — Control emotions now. There will be tendencies to exaggerate, to lose temper. Be especially tactful in dealings with marriage or business partners.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Gains from past efforts indicated. Also, recognition for a long-forgotten favor bestowed. Creative pursuits highly favored.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Emphasize your reasoning faculties and keen discernment if faced with annoying situations — or persons. You have a job to do; don't let outside interferences distract you.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — Continuing good Mars influences stimulate your talents and skills now, so make the best of a really good day. Wherever you can, share your knowledge — and your joys — with another.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Gauging situations correctly will depend upon many factors. Take time to study, review, hear all sides, and you will arrive at intelligent conclusions more quickly.

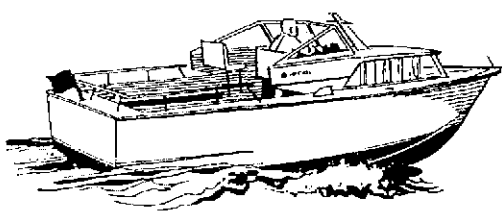

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Avoid making decisions while under stress, and don't write anything you may later regret. Maintain your equanimity even if dealing with persons who annoy you.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Avoid tendencies to procrastinate. Handle all matters in the order of their importance. Under pressure, emphasize the Aquarian's innate ingenuity AND sense of humor.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — A favorable period for completing unfinished business, starting unusual projects and advancing new ideas. If opposed in the latter at first, try a new strategy.

YOU BORN TODAY are unusually adept mentally, have the ability to overcome difficulties and, in all situations, come through with flying colors. Your courage, fair-mindedness and artistic ability are outstanding. Because of their good judgment, perception and general understanding of people and situations, Taurus make excellent judges and arbitrators; could also succeed as surgeons or in any one of the performing arts.

'People' stop in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy said Tuesday "The outpouring of poor people and the support we have gotten for our march has far exceeded our expectations."

The Rev. Mr. Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, made the comment to newsmen after flying from Washington to lead the northeast section of the Poor People's Campaign.

The people in the campaign and an outpouring of persons from this city marched six abreast through poor sections of the city to Independence Hall for a rally. There were many children in the march and some mothers pushed baby carriages.

Wearing the blue jeans he has adopted as a symbol of the march, Abernathy paused for a quick lunch of fried chicken, potato salad and cold macaroni.

He said the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., his predecessor as head of SCLC, "never envisioned what has happened to us in the last few days."

The Rev. Mr. Abernathy repeated that when poor people come together from all parts of the country next Monday in Washington, "We will live there until Congress does something about helping the poor people of this country—it's the nation's last opportunity to respond."

He said Washington officials have placed a limit on how long the campaign may occupy its shanty town in Washington, "but you can always renew permits you know."

About 4,000 persons were on hand when ten buses with about 350 aboard rolled in from Trenton, N.J. They spent Tuesday night here and will move to Wilmington, Del., Wednesday.

The staging area for Philadelphia is near where riots flared in 1964, causing damage estimated at $1 million.

Large tents were erected on the site, but they served as headquarters and a place to hand out hundreds of sandwiches and box meals. Shelter for the marchers was provided in private dwellings.

Philadelphia's 7,200 policemen were placed on 12-hour shifts "for as long as we feel it is needed," said police commissioner Frank L. Rizzo.

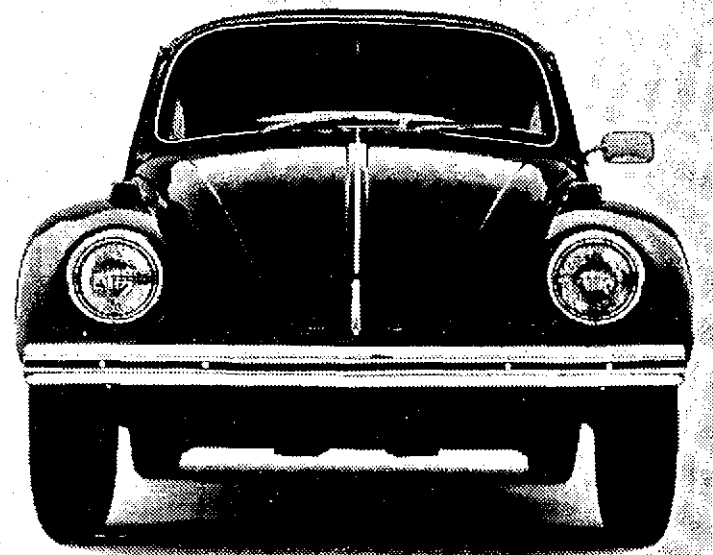

One of the march's coordinators was critical of police treatment in Trenton, N.J. The Rev. James Orange said Tuesday "the police were nasty in Trenton and they held us up nearly an hour past our scheduled departure time."

The buses were late in arriving.

The Rev. Mr. Orange, coordinator of this section of the march, said he planned to return to Trenton later to start a demonstration.

"We will go back to Trenton and we will organize a rent strike and demonstration to show them the poor people mean business," he said.

Since it's never in, it's never out.

Each year the new cars come rolling out with the latest frills.

Wow. And each year the old Volkswagen rolls out looking just the same.

Ho hum. But when the year goes by, new fads soon outdate the old fads. And the hottest-looking car last year is just that: the hottest-looking car last year.

But a VW is still just a VW. Not looking up-to-date, but not looking out-of-date either. (So you'll never have a Has-Been on your hands when you want to sell it.)

Instead of wasting time making the Volkswagen look better, we spend our time making it work better.

And this year there are dozens of ways it works better. (That makes over 2200 in all since it first started working period.)

In the end, the choice is yours: pay a big price for a year of glory. Or a small price for a VW.

Bridge will replace two access roads

Beltzville dam savings cited

PHILADELPHIA — The substitution of a bridge for two access roads has enabled the Army Engineer's Philadelphia District to save $93,000 in the construction of Beltzville Dam across Pohopoco Creek, about four miles east of Lehigh, according to Colonel W. W. Watkins, Jr., District Engineer.

The original plans called for the construction of two access roads, one from the left bank and one from the right bank of the project. The right access road would have been 4,045 feet long, part of which would have been constructed in the spillway area.

Since the spillway would only be used when the amount of flood storage exceeded the capacity of the reservoir, this would occur very infrequently. At such times this road would have been inundated necessitating the use of a 1,200-foot long access road on the left bank.

To reach the latter when the spillway was in use, the dam operator would have had to travel five miles over U.S. highways and township roads to go from his office on the right bank to the control tower on the left bank. The construction of a bridge across the spillway will eliminate the necessity of travelling this distance and, thus, allow access to the control tower at all times regardless of flood conditions.

The bridge will be a one lane steel structure spanning 390 feet and have an average height of 40 feet above the spillway floor.

The change in design was suggested by Vincent L. Calvane, of the Engineering Division of the Philadelphia District, as a part of the District's continuing Value Engineering program.

Construction of the $18.8 million multi-purpose project began in 1956. Beltzville Dam will be 4,390 feet long, rise 170 feet above the creek bed and impound a 947 acre lake, five miles long. Completion is scheduled for 1979.

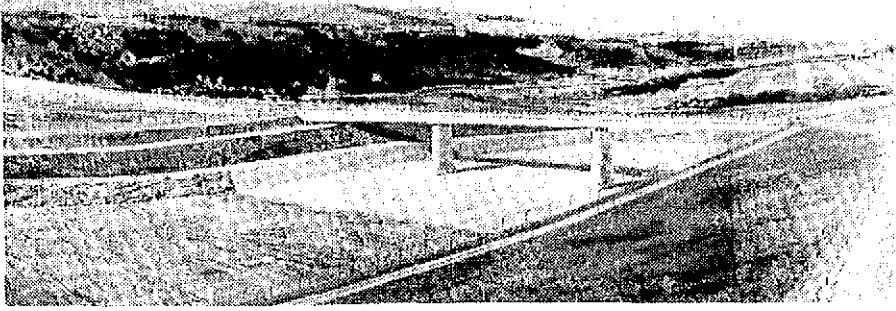

Pupils attend Career Day in Pen Argyl

PEN ARGYL — Career Day, which was originally scheduled for May 7, was held in Pen Argyl Schools, Tuesday. The program was postponed because of the death of Bradley Crawshaw, district superintendent.

Among the experts who spoke to the students, Tuesday, were Donald L. Bashore, assistant county agent; Stuart A. Henry of the Metropolitan-Edison Company; Corporal Meade of the Pennsylvania State Police; Jay A. Miers of the Ingersoll-Rand Co.; Attorney Richard C. Killo, and Mrs. Lois L. Derrickson, dietitian at the M. W. Wood Co. in Allentown.

Films were presented by James R. Timney of the Pen Argyl National Bank; Miss Helen Brown from the East Stroudsburg State College; Mrs. John Oliver of the American Medical Association Auxiliary; and Carl C. Saunders from the Art Institute of Pittsburgh.

Other speakers included R. C. Wartman from the Bethlehem Steel Co.; Kenneth Kocher, associate dean of Continuing Education at the Northampton County Area Community College; Miss Judy Greenwood of the House of Charm; Mrs. Eva Savage of the Allentown-Stroudsburg School of Cosmetology; Harry E. Cawley from the Career Academy; K. S. Snyder of the Electronics Training Center, Allentown; David Godshall; W. R. Watts of Hartford Airlines; and Harry Weitz from the Spring Garden Institute in Philadelphia. A representative from E.C.P.I., Whitehall Mall, Allentown, spoke on data processing and programming.

Construction of the 390-foot steel spillway bridge, shown above, in lieu of two access roads will enable the Army Engineers' Philadelphia District to save $93,000 in the construction of Beltzville Dam across Pohopoco Creek about four miles east of Lehigh.

Newfoundland public library delays membership drive

NEWFOUNDLAND — A membership campaign for the Newfoundland Area Public Library, originally planned for this Spring, has been postponed until early Fall, under the direction of chairman Robert Krieger of Greentown. There are 217 members of the library at the present time.

A Book of Memory will be purchased through gifts from the Board of Directors of the Library, honoring the memory of the late Dr. Harold W. Gilbert, and the book will be used to list the memorial books donated to the library, together with the name of the donor and the person honored.

Special books are being ordered by the book committee as gifts are received, it was reported. Books presented last month include those in memory of Dr. Gilbert, Truman Osborne, Mrs. E. Clifford Culler, R. Bruce Dunlap, and Mrs. Margaret (Peggy) Essl.

Library books were donated during the month by Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Stackhouse, Mr. and Mrs. John Laurido, Mrs.

Hazel Akers, Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Smith, Congressman Joseph McDade, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jacob, Mrs. Henry Arneberg, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tucker.

Escapee out of hospital

STROUDSBURG — Edward Gearhart, 24, formerly of 403 King St., East Stroudsburg, is back in the Monroe County Jail.

Gearhart was seriously injured early April 17 when the car he was riding in crashed into a steel pole at a service station in Mountainhome. The driver, William Korocay, 24, of DeRidder, La., died in the crash.

Both men had escaped from jail earlier and stole a car owned by Jay B. Hoover of Pulmer Ave., Stroudsburg.

The escapees are believed to have robbed Laurel Beverage Co. of 18 cases of beer, stole two other cars in the Stroudsburg area, and burglarized Mick's Garage in Cresco.

Pen Argyl's 3 top students will give graduation talks

PEN ARGYL — The administration of Pen Argyl High School has announced that three of its top senior students will deliver commencement addresses during graduation ceremonies, June 6.

Delivering the student talks will be Kinsey S. Reagan Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Kinsey S. Reagan, Nazareth H.D. 3; Daisy B. Court, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Court, 411 George St., Pen Argyl; and David R. Weiss, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Robert Weiss, 200 Laurel Ave., Pen Argyl.

The featured speaker during the ceremonies, which will start at 6:30 and take place on the athletic field, will be Alexander C. Carmichael, a non-denominational minister from near Syracuse, N.Y.

Carmichael's theme will be "The Long Ranger," plan today for tomorrow. Other graduation ceremonies at Pen Argyl will be a Baccalaureate service, Sunday, June 2, at 7 p.m., on the athletic field. The service is sponsored by the Pen Argyl Ministerium Assn.

If it rains on graduation night, the 125 seniors will receive their diplomas in ceremonies in the senior high school gymnasium.

According to a spokesman for Alan H. Jackson, a memorial service, as part of the graduation ceremony, is being planned in honor of Bradley Crawshaw.

Reagan has earned an "A" average for his academic work during his four years in high school. He also played in the band and on the basketball and baseball teams.

Reagan was awarded the American Legion Outstanding Citizenship Award while a junior high school student. He was elected to the National Honor Society during his junior years and was a Merit Scholarship finalist.

He was one of two students in the school to score 800 in the college entrance examination board tests.

Last summer, he was selected to study in the six-week Junior Research Seminar sponsored by the National Science Foundation at Lehigh University.

He also attended the National Youth Conference on the Atom sponsored by the Metropolitan-Edison Co. at the University of Chicago.

Reagan will study mathematics in the school of science at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N.Y.

Miss Court also was a four-year "A" student and was active in the band, chorus, girls' basketball, the German Club, school plays, yearbook staff and Future Teachers' Assn.

She was awarded the American Legion Auxiliary Good Citizenship Award and was elected to the National Thespian Society and National Honor Society during her junior year.

She was a member of both the Pennsylvania Eastern District Band and chorus groups.

Miss Court will study mathematics at Pennsylvania State University.

Weiss, who has received a senatorial appointment to the United States Naval Academy, Annapolis, Md., will report to the academy in July.

He was active in gymnastics, football, student government, the school yearbook staff, dramatics, band and chorus.

Weiss also won an American Legion citizenship award and was elected to the National Honor Society and National Thespian Society.

New symbol of warfare

Long hair, granny glasses and clothes of unbelievable design have supposedly become symbols of peace in recent years. Those who claim to be of intellectual nature have gone to extremes to brand the United States as a war monger.

Suddenly the truth has flashed across the horizon like a bolt of lightning. Just as suddenly the long hair, granny glasses, weird clothes and strands of flowers now stand for violence.

Proof of this change in belief may be noted by the acts of violence on major college campuses throughout the United States and even in other lands.

Even more recently, students complete with the former "peace uniforms" have virtually torn up the city of Paris in an effort to halt the peace talks between the United States and North Vietnam.

Victims of plots

Once again those students who claim outstanding mental ability have fallen victims to plots that grew from Communistic cells and expanded into anti-American displays throughout the world. These demonstrations reached the peak of their strength right here in the United States.

It is an almost unforgivable shame that elements in the United States have so coldly turned their backs on the country that makes a successful life possible, while hiding behind the military struggle in Vietnam as a cause for their reasoning.

Now the United States is at the bargaining table and ready to at least try and bring peace to the world. The sudden diplomatic chance has caught our intellectuals with their flowers down and now their Communist inspired leanings have taken on a new reasoning.

Suddenly demonstrations against the United States have taken on an interior design and colleges and universities across the land have become specific targets.

The most recent student demonstrations in Paris, during which millions of dollars worth of damage was committed, was obviously a move to break up the peace talks before they could really get under way.

The Paris upheaval exposed another glaring weakness of the United Nations, an organization that has been entrusted with bringing world peace.

The Paris demonstrations came as no surprise and thus moves should have been made to protect the peace conference and the peace conferees. The U.N. should have assigned well equipped servicemen to protect those involved in the peace conference and the building in which it is being held.

Troops necessary

True, the conference began on schedule, despite the demonstrations. However, it took a super-human effort by the Paris police force to save the day. The presence of well equipped troops may have discouraged mobs to such a degree that no type of demonstration would have taken place.

The U.N. has pushed for these peace talks for such a long time that it appears criminal that the so-called "peace organization" hasn't taken some concrete steps to see that the talks proceed without outside incidents.

Youthful demonstrators across the United States can no longer cry for peace, because it is they who are causing warfare. These are the people who have suddenly taken a direct opposite view of life and in a matter of days.

It is now time to halt the masquerade and to take part in some truly honest efforts to help the United States and the world to maintain peace and insure prosperity.

BIRTHDAYS:

"To your birthday, glass held high,
Glad it's you that's older — not I."
"Although another year is past,
"She's no older than the last!"
"There's another candle on your cake?
Well, that's no cause to doubt or spout.
Be glad you have the strength enough
To puff and blow the darn things out!"

WEDDINGS:

Here's to the groom and to his wife;
Chasing her got him caught for life!"
"To the newlyweds: May 'for better or worse' be far better than worse."
"Here's to my mother-in-law's daughter,
And here's to her father-in-law's son,
And here's to the vows we've just taken
And to the life we have just begun!"

REUNIONS:

"To friends: As long as we are able To lift our glasses from the table."
To the good old days... we weren't so good, 'cause we weren't so old!"
"Here's to the memories we all treasure,
To our waistlines, increased in measure!
Here's to our friendship, tried and true.
The men've passed 40; the girls never do."

Productive president

WASHINGTON, D.C. — We sat in the Fish Room waiting. It is an intimate room with a big rosewood table and high-backed chairs. Once, the wall held a bluish caught by John F. Kennedy. Everyone called the place the Fish Room.

Now the flat white walls are decorated with Christmas paintings of the Hill Country of Texas; landscapes that are peopled with bluebonnets and that melt into rocky hills ribbed with patches of yellow flowers.

Some old friends came in to chat while we waited for President Lyndon Johnson. The lower echelon group — policemen and Secret Service men — have "tenure." After January 20th, they will still work here. The others, appointive men of substance, are already looking for work. The feelers are out in many directions.

President Johnson kept the Kennedy crowd with him, even though their loyalties were to a dead knight. Now they too have left, swinging a free leg up on the Robert Kennedy wagon, hoping to get back in power if he makes the grade. In the back of the White House, the Jacqueline Kennedy Rose Garden, as formal and wind-blown as its namesake, will stay.

The little attic room on the third floor is due for a change, depending on the whim of the new man. It has an inclined slope.

Franklin D. Roosevelt used to be wheeled up there to read and look off to the mists of sailboats on the Potomac. Truman used it for poker games with cronies. On those evenings, he added a little bourbon and a splash of brandy water.

Classroom for Caroline

Mrs. Kennedy used it as a classroom for Caroline. Women friends of hers from Georgetown sent their children — by invitation only — to the White House center hall at 8:30 a.m., five days a week. All of them, including Caroline, brought their lunch. The others contributed equally to the cost of a teacher, books, pencils and rulers.

When she left, Luci Baines Johnson used it as a den. She had couches, a soft-drink bar with stools, some school banners and mementos on the wall. A record player crashed out the mood music of the teen-ager. Next January, that room will be altered by a new tenant.

The President called us into his office and we sat and chatted about nothing of consequence. Kelly sat at my side and she was moved to say: "Mr. President, I have never seen you look so well." The big brown eyes were bright.

Sad commentary

WASHINGTON — The results of the Time magazine - UNIVAC national poll of college students were such a shameful commentary on certain of our young people that, simply for reasons of good taste, I was going to ignore the whole affair.

But then Sen. Eugene McCarthy (D., Minn.), making his excuses after the Indiana primary, had to bring up the college poll and the fact that he won it. He even seemed smug about it, which amazes me. If, for instance, I had won that poll it would be a source of embarrassment to the end of my days.

While the wire services printed the results of the survey, no one seems to have analyzed them. We shall do so now, although the job is somewhat distasteful.

Hardly astonishing

Of the 1,072,830 votes cast by students on 1,200 campuses, Sen. McCarthy was chosen by 28 per cent as the ideal man to be president. In view of his anti-draft statements, his marvelous showing among draft-age students is hardly astonishing.

How, though, can a man be proud of the fact that most of his followers are people who don't want to defend their country or the principles of democracy?

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy was second, with 20 per cent, simply because — next to McCarthy — he is the candidate most opposed to maintaining the free world with the help of soldiers.

It is to the credit of 19 per cent of the students that they voted for Richard Nixon, a known hawk. Whether he is the best man is

The hair is a little grayer, but the figure is less bulky and he sat between the couches on a rocker, the frames of his glasses between his teeth, and he seemed genuinely glad to see us.

He will not run again, even if the nation stood as one man and asked him to do it. His mind is made up. He has had, as he points out, 40 years of public service and that's enough. Ever since he quit, his popularity has been rising like a fever thermometer, but he is no longer impressed.

Few people understand how much that old ranch house, built by his aunt long ago, means to him. It isn't palatial. It's full of hardwood frontier furniture and deer antlers as hat racks. All through the time that Lynda and Luci were growing — and before — he and Mrs. Johnson have been in Washington 80 per cent of each year. An additional 10 per cent was spent mending political fences or campaigning. He just wants to go home.

Sleep for awhile

"I think when I get there," he said, waving the glasses, "I'm just going to sleep awhile. Just sleep." I pooh-poohed the notion, because Lyndon Baines Johnson was born running at top speed. No, he insisted, he will sleep and lounge awhile. After that...

"I don't know," he said. I suggested that, like other presidents, he will start to write his memoirs. The president put on a broad smile. In the field of writing, he defers to Mrs. Johnson. She has a degree in journalism. He isn't sure what she will do, but he said: "You know, she has kept a strict diary from the first day we got here."

On the cold, factual record, Lyndon Johnson emerges as the most productive President of all time. More progressive legislation has been enacted in any one year of his tenure of office than other presidents have achieved in four. If he and Mrs. Johnson write a book — or a series of them — there will be some electrifying disclosures of history behind the scenes.

He doesn't look like a so-called lame-duck president. Obviously, he doesn't feel like one. He is now free to call his shots openly, without fear or favor. He can do as he pleases for the next eight months. And, in spite of his critics, he can step down in a blaze of glory.

When we parted, the president said something unusual. It had an air of finality about it. He shook hands and murmured: "God bless you, Jim." In January, the nation may be saying that to him.

beside the point. It simply is encouraging that the students who voted for him did so for reasons other than avoiding the draft.

Military action

The question about military action resulted in 17 per cent saying we should withdraw and almost 45 per cent saying we should reduce our forces in Vietnam. That's pretty easy to understand, isn't it? But some observers seemed surprised that 20 per cent of the students said we should go "all-out" to win and nine per cent said we should increase our effort.

Here, I would say, the motivation was simply this: "Let's end this thing before I have to go to there." This would explain the results of the question on bombing, also.

Almost 20 per cent said we should stop it; 28 per cent said suspend it and, of course, there were 25 per cent who thought the bombing should be increased and four per cent who thought it should be nuclear! That latter crowd is really scared.

As I said, the results are a sad commentary and why McCarthy chose to mention them is beyond me.

So Bobby Kennedy won in Indiana and Washington, D.C. Gad. Where have I failed?

Question: How many more votes would be cast in primaries if voters weren't afraid to leave their homes because of the crime rate?

Let's hope White House specialist Cyrus Vance is better at negotiating with Hanoi than he was at reasoning with looters in Washington.

The Allen-Scott Report

HEW official rescues program

Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — Former Health, Education and Welfare Secretary John Gardner is discovering that he has a lot more influence on Congress as a "lobbyist" than he had as a member of President Johnson's Cabinet.

By making 75 phone calls in two days last week to Republican legislators, Gardner, as head of the privately organized Urban Coalition, was able to swing enough votes to save the administration's $25 million rent supplement program in the House.

This record appropriation, which is likely to be increased in the Senate, compares to $10 million Congress grudgingly approved last year when Gardner was the administration's spokesman for the highly controversial proposal.

The Urban Coalition is a nation-wide organization formed to seek massive federal aid for cities and the poor. In his new lobbying role as its chairman Gardner was able to pull the rug out from under a spirited GOP economy drive by calling law-makers either against the rent subsidy program or uncommitted.

Gardner's backstage campaign also succeeded in defeating by a narrow margin a follow-up Republican move to hold rent supplements to the present $10 million level.

Although polls of House leaders showed that both cutback motions would carry, Gardner changed the situation by appealing that the subsidy program be given an additional year trial — especially since 1968 was a presidential election year.

At Gardner's request Rep. Gerald Ford, R-Mich., GOP minority leader, dropped plans to force a roll-call vote, as was done a year ago. This face-saving action spared conservative Republicans who are friends of Gardner from having to vote publicly against the program. Significantly Gardner is the choice for the GOP vice presidential nomination of Melvin Laird, Wis., chairman of the GOP conference committee.

Working together

Gardner swung into action after receiving an unexpected call from Speaker John McCormack, D-Mass.

"We need anywhere from 70 to 75 Republican votes to save the administration's rent supplemental program," McCormack told the former HEW secretary. "Can you help us? If we are to solve our growing urban crisis, all Republicans must move into the 20th century."

Bob Considine

Hard to understand

NEW YORK — Arriving on the scene of the Paris peace talks, a member of the North Vietnamese delegation remarked that the very existence of the talks is proof that the United States is losing the war.

Amazingly, he may very well have believed what he was saying.

He could manage belief in his words even though he had just come from a country that is largely debris as a result of U.S. bombing raids. He must know that the Tet offensive of last winter was a colossal failure: the Allies' "kill" rate was as high as 10 to 1 in the major battles, no major objective was taken, the South Vietnamese people did not rise and support the attacks, the Saigon government stood firm, and scores of thousands of well-trained guerrillas were sacrificed in the forlorn hope of scoring a quick knockout.

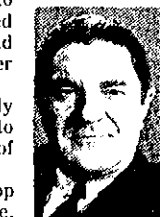

(Guerrillas, as distinct from invading North Vietnamese troops and indigenous Viet Cong, are mainly South Vietnamese who received extraordinary training in North Vietnam. Upon being returned to their home areas, they serve as guides, scouts, food and medical providers, spies, saboteurs, extortionists, tax-collectors, blackmailers, executioners, and they are in charge of impressing South Vietnamese youths into the VC before they are old enough to be drafted by the government. Grossly misused as shock-wave troops during the Tet debacle, they died in rivers of their own blood, a bitter blow to the Communist infrastructure in South Vietnam.)

The delegate could still believe in his heart that America is losing just as Ho Chi Minh must feel that the U.S. is being whipped.

Oriental mind

One must look into the Oriental mind to discern why such beliefs could be held in the face of the simple mathematics of death and destruction. The oriental, whose outlook on the realities of war is colored by centuries of suppression and exploitation by the white man, can look upon any conference requested by the white man as a sign of the latter's weakness or dire plight.

He cannot honestly fathom why a nation as strong as the United States does not use all of its strength and crush him. What is

Lester Coleman, M.D.

Doctor, I'd like to know

After a recent operation on my gall bladder I developed severe adhesions which necessitated another operation. It happened that the surgeon who operated on me took sick the day after my operation and I was handled mostly by a resident physician and by another strange doctor. Could these adhesions be the result of poor after care or would they have happened in any event?

Mr. D. L., Kansas

Dear Mr. L.:

Adhesions are bands of very thin strong fibrous tissue that frequently follow some types of surgery. Long standing chronic infection of the gall bladder may have been responsible for the adhesions even before surgery took place.

Even with the most gentle handling of the delicate tissues in the abdomen adhesions will

After Gardner agreed to make the calls, McCormack supplied him with the names of 75 Republican legislators who had either voted against the rent subsidy program last year or indicated they planned to oppose it this year.

The controversial rent supplement program, which is designed to help low-income families live in moderate-income housing through federal subsidies to landlords, was part of a $13.7 billion omnibus spending bill passed last week and sent to the Senate.

Included in the measure was a $500 million allotment for another Great Society innovation — the model cities program — which provides grants that selected municipalities, including most of the major cities, may spend in a variety of ways for improvement.

House Republicans last week merely tried to reduce the Model Cities program to $312 million — or the same amount approved by Congress in 1967. But with Gardner lobbying for the bigger amount even this economy drive fizzled.

And GOP leaders at Gardner's request did not even ask for a record vote. A year ago, when Gardner made a similar request, it fell on deaf congressional ears.

Women warriors

Hanoi is using more and more women in combat.

The use of attractive women to lure American soldiers into deadly traps has been recently reported. Also the number of North Vietnamese and Viet Cong females now in uniform in South Vietnam is believed to total more than 3,000, and is increasing almost daily. Several hundred other women are believed to be serving as North Vietnamese spies.

In recent fighting for Saigon, United States intelligence authorities report that in several instances all-women units have been used to spearhead the Communists' military-political offensive.

On the outskirts of Saigon, an American air-mobile operation killed a half dozen women guerrillas and captured the same number on the battlefield.

"One of these captured women was carrying a 65-pound machinegun taken from a downed American helicopter," states an Army intelligence report. "The women were smuggling arms into Saigon to set up an advance command post for attacks from inside the capital."

strength for, except to crush? Why would we hesitate to blow Haiphong and Hanoi off the map? Why would we spare the hydro-electric facilities of North Vietnam simply because if we destroyed the dams the waters would drown the women and children who live below?

So, something must be wrong. There must be fear and misgivings in the land of those who have come halfway across the world to fight for a Saigon government. Nobody fights for a Saigon government, the puzzled Oriental might say. It's like fighting for a robber baron. . . or, at least, it always has been.

Old man Ho, ruminating in his bomb shelter, is said to be fed a steady diet of "good" news, pictures and reports from the U.S. He probably is as aware of the Columbia University riots as you are, though he could have interpreted them as solely a protest against Columbia's off-campus research work for the Defense Department. He knows the speeches of Sen. Fulbright, the rise of the anti-war candidates, Sen. McCarthy and Sen. Kennedy, he sees the editorials of outstanding papers opposed to continuation of the war. He watches the unrest, the marches, the "police brutality."

And he must reason that if anything remotely like that kind of protest ever erupted in Hanoi his days would surely be numbered. The discipline could not tolerate such open attacks on authority.

Therefore, Ho must feel there can be only chaos in America. Why would a commander-in-chief who could whistle up a vast aerial attack — even thermonuclear — not do so, particularly since the victim of such an attack has no ability to retaliate? There must be weakness, grave doubt, behind President Johnson's all-out efforts to get peace talks started. Why else would he have fanned more than 30 peace ambassadors across the face of the world? Why would he have appealed to the UN, the Pope, Koysein and no one knows how many others to help him get a meeting with a country that has less than two per cent of the population of Asia? Why would he give up the luxury, comfort and prestige of the presidency unless he felt that only such a sacrifice could stop the courageous attacks of the little men in black pajamas?

It is also true that some people are more prone to develop them than others.

It is said that adhesions are actually nature's protective device to seal off pockets of infection and keep them from spreading.

I do not believe that the unfortunate illness of your surgeon was in any way responsible for your adhesions. The doctors who treated you were undoubtedly completely equipped and trained to handle the post-operative care exactly as your own doctor would have done it.

I cannot refrain from telling some of my readers that which they may not know. A resident physician or surgeon is a completely qualified doctor who might be in the practice of medicine or surgery were it not for his desire to specialize with more intensive training.

EAST STROUDSBURG — Montgomery Perfetti, a son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Perfetti of 737 Milford Rd., East Stroudsburg, was recently elected president of East Stroudsburg State College Men's Day Student Association.

Also elected were Raymond Nottle of Pen Argyl, vice president; Dennis G. Hahn of Nazareth, secretary, and Craig Roberts of Bangor, treasurer.

The day students, with their advisor, Earl Slutter, compose one of the largest male organizations on the college campus.

Driver fails to out-run police

LEIGHTON — A driver may be able to out-run a police car but he can't out-run police radios. Warren F. Hoffman, Jr., 24, of Stroudsburg, Box 341, learned this Saturday night.

Hoffman is in Monroe County Jail on default of bail on two misdemeanors and $1,000 on nine motor vehicle violations.

State Police from Leighton, assisted by State Police from Fern Ridge and Stroudsburg, apprehended the man after chasing him back and forth from Kresgeville and Brodheadsville.

Hoffman was signaled to stop in Kresgeville by State Police from Leighton, for a routine check, but he failed to stop and "took off for Brodheadsville."

Enroute, Hoffman turned off his headlights to avoid identification. He was clocked by police at speeds of 80 and 90 miles per hour.

Hoffman led police into Brodheadsville, where he lost them, and was then sighted again headed for Kresgeville.

Police began the chase again and during the chase Hoffman ran off the highway, crossed the lawn of Lloyd Heckman, Gilbert, causing approximately $100 property damage, and drove his car behind the Heckman home in an attempt to hide from police. It was here he was apprehended.

Hoffman is charged with two charges of speeding, improper pass in the face of traffic, improper pass on a curve, operating a motor vehicle without lights after dark, two counts of failing to stop at the signal of an officer, and two charges of operating a motor vehicle without lights to avoid identification.

Tips on bridging the generation gap

STROUDSBURG — "The generation gap is very real and pretending it isn't there won't help to bridge it," Mrs. Rose Mekeel told members of the Woman's Club of the Stroudsburgs at their final meeting of the season at the Stroud Community House.

Mrs. Mekeel, associate professor of education and psychology at East Stroudsburg State College, was speaking on "Home and Community Influences on Today's Youth."

In outlining the reasons for the gap in understanding between generations, Mrs. Mekeel said:

"This is a far different world in which today's young people have grown up, and parents do not feel at home in that world. Yet it is the parents who, because they are less impulsive, less intolerant, must attempt to bridge that gap."

One of the major differences is that in the middle class family, there is an increasingly long period during which young people must remain financially dependent on their parents, she pointed out.

At an age when their parents were married and had established themselves in occupations, young people are still required to go on to college and perhaps graduate school to fit themselves into the complicated technology in which they will work.

Another difference she cited was that today's young people are much more aware of what is going on in the world than their parents were at the same age, largely because of the growth of mass media, particularly television.

Both parents and children are confused about where a child stands in point of maturity, Mrs. Mekeel said. A young person may get a driver's license at 16, be drafted at 18, but cannot drink or vote until he is 21.

In primitive society, the initiation of puberty rites marked the dividing line between the child and the adult, she pointed out, after which they were regarded as adults with adult privileges and responsibilities.

"Adolescence is merely a cultural invention. It is the time when the child must make adjustments to being men and women, social adjustment, adjustment to their own changing bodies and emotional independence."

All of these the home and the community can help them achieve, she said, through entrusting them with important community activities, by setting an example of socially responsible behavior and by treating the young person as an adult as soon as he has shown signs of maturity.

Summer work can help him toward economic independence, or at least the assurance that he can become financially independent when his training is finished.

Mrs. Henry Surrey presided at the business meeting when officers were re-elected and installed by Mrs. Robert Hoffman, president of the Monroe County Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Surrey was installed for her second term as president; Mrs. Elmer D. Christine as first vice president; Mrs. Harvey Pullen, second vice president; Mrs. James H. Smith, third vice president; Mrs. Brian Walker Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. Richard Klotzsch, assistant recording secretary; Mrs. Morton H. Spinner, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edmund A. Strickland, treasurer.

Mrs. William Mitchell, retiring second vice president, introduced the speaker.

Annual reports were given including the report of bridge-rama by Mrs. C. C. Scholia who paid tribute to the work of Mrs. Clifford Heller in carrying out the project.

Summer activities of the club will include planning for the Fall meeting of the Monroe County Federation of Women's Clubs at which they will be hosts, and for the opening club luncheon in October. Mrs. Harvey Pullen will be in charge.

Mrs. Elmer D. Christine reported on the well-baby clinic and also asked for volunteers to help with the birthday party at Pleasant Valley Manor which the club will sponsor in September.

Announcement was made of the Hospital Aux. luncheon, card party and fashion show on May 27 at East Stroudsburg State College.

The meeting was preceded by dessert served by Mrs. Lloyd Collo, Mrs. Walter H. Caulfield and Mrs. Edwin J. Heermaans.

J. Melvin Stewart

Banker-evangelist to speak

EAST STROUDSBURG — Speaker at the monthly luncheon of the Stroudsburg Christian Woman's Club on Tuesday, May 21, will be J. Melvin Stewart, president of the United Management Co. of Clarion, whose avocation is gospel singer.

Stewart studied for the concert stage but when he entered business, he used his gifts as song leader, soloist and speaker.

He is president of United Finance Co. and the Thrift Plan Finance Company and is active in child evangelism and business organization. He is a member of the Methodist Church, the Christian Businessmen's Committee International and the Pennsylvania Industrial Bankers Assn.

He and Mrs. Stewart live in Applewood Valley, Clarion, and have six daughters and one son.

The luncheon will be held from 12 noon until 2 p.m. at the Holiday Inn, East Stroudsburg.

Mr. Callie of Callie's Candy Kitchen, Bangor, will provide the special feature on making candy. He will show the molds used to make Easter candies and will decorate the room in "candy and bows."

At the April luncheon meeting of the club there were 103 women present. The Holiday Inn provides room eight for a nursery during the luncheon with a baby sitter provided by the club at a minimum fee. Reservations may be made through Mrs. Walter Seemiller. All interested women are invited.

WCTU opposes parimutuels, Sunday sales

EAST STROUDSBURG — The Women's Christian Temperance Union took a stand against two bills before the legislature.

At their meeting in the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Education Building, members and friends were urged to write to Gov. Shafer, expressing disapproval of Senate Bill 829 which would open the way for pari-mutuel wagering in Pennsylvania and also against S. B. 913 which would permit Sunday sale of liquor in this state.

Mrs. Dale Larn presided at the business meeting. Mrs. B. H. Hostetter led the devotions.

Officers for the coming year were elected: President, Mrs. B. H. Hostetter; vice president, Mrs. Dale Larn; secretary, Miss Grace Depue; treasurer, Mrs. E. T. Werkheiser.

Hostesses were members from the Presbyterian Church. A covered dish picnic supper was planned for June 14 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Larn.

Place of retarded in the community

STROUDSBURG — James B. Groner was elected president of the Monroe County Assn. for Retarded Children at the annual dinner meeting held recently at the Stroudsburg YMCA.

Other officers elected were Mrs. Mary D. Gearhart, vice president; Mrs. Pearl Smale, secretary; Mrs. Hazel West, corresponding secretary, and Frank Lanterman, treasurer.

A highlight of the dinner was a tribute to the students from East Stroudsburg State College who have helped with the Youth Program for the Handicapped held at the YMCA.

Walter R. Strunk, retiring president, announced that a picnic will be held for the children of the Youth Program this Spring. He also announced the Day Camp at the Robert G. Moll Camp for Retarded Children at Mount Bethel in three two-week periods, starting June 24.

Further information about the Day Camp can be obtained from Mrs. Layton Gearhart.

The annual convention of the Pennsylvania Assn. for Retarded Children will be held June 6 to 8 at the Marriott Motor Hotel, Philadelphia, with the theme "The Retarded: Their Place in the Community."

238 members Mrs. Walter Leonard, membership chairman, announced that the local chapter now has 238 members. She thanked Mrs. James Groner and Mrs. Jack Manchester for their help with the membership drive.

Robert Owens, chairman of the research committee, announced that canisters for "Pennies for Research" are available.

The guest speaker, Charles Mitchell Jr. of Philadelphia, chairman of Aged Retardate Committee of the National and State Assns., spoke of the problems of the elderly parent with an aged retardate at home, who has not had any training for productive work.

New board members elected were: Miss Frances Everett, Frank Flaherty, Mrs. James B. Groner, Mrs. Camille Harvey, Walter Leonard, Mrs. Josephine Manchester, Mrs. Harry Rider, Rev. Marshall J. Rio, Jr., Alfred Strand and Mrs. Walter Wyckoff.

Board members who will continue to serve are Dr. John Abbruzzese, Harold Croasdale, Mrs. Walter Dreher, Frank Gochal, Mrs. Robert James, Theodore Kirch, Frank Lanterman, Dr. John Martucci, Henry McCool, Mrs. Virginia Newman, Mrs. Mary Alice Strunk, Mrs. Hazel West, Van D. Yetter and honorary member, Gary Soderberg.

On display at the dinner were handcraft items made by the youngsters in the Youth Program. The students of the Day Care Training Center, Readers, taught by Mrs. Camille Harvey had made table favors of plastic tile baskets in various shapes which were filled with mints. The tables were decorated with lilacs and daffodils.

There were 63 present for the dinner. The dinner committee included Mrs. Harry Rider, Mrs. Walter Leonard, Mrs. Jack Manchester and Mrs. James B. Groner; Mrs. Mary D. Gearhart, program chairman, and Mrs. Walter R. Strunk, chairman of public awareness.

The invocation was given by Rev. Marshall Rio, Jr., of the Stroudsburg United Church of Christ.

The next meeting will be held June 11 at 7:30 at the Stroudsburg YMCA. The public is invited.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

After all my brave talk about ignoring Mother's Day, I got more fun out of all the kudos that go with it than anyone, including hand-picked dandelions from the grandchildren and a long distance call from Jamaica.

It's a good thing there are a lot of meetings this week, since this gives the mothers who got orchids a chance to give them several airings, as demonstrated at the Woman's Club meeting on Monday. There's nothing more frustrating than an orchid in the refrigerator and nowhere to show it off.

A program on child psychology is irresistible to mothers of any age, and the one on Monday proved no exception, even though many of the audience were grandmothers who could nod sagely at telling points. Anyway, sometimes communication, like twins, seems to skip generations.

Pride in one's children can take many forms, and I imagine that the place favors made by the students of the Day Care Training Center for the annual dinner of the Assn. for Retarded Children, were more cause for pride than many a more elaborate gift.

Speaking of gifts, I got my "basic vector control," a handsome flyswatter to which Wini Dressler had affixed a lace butterfly and daisies. The flies may not have time to appreciate the art work, but I do.

I also appreciate an unusual social note from John Glasson, headed, "Stroudsburg's most distinguished guests have arrived. The Warblers have arrived with the males all dressed up in their Spring finery. Their colors are gorgeous: red, green, blue, yellow, orange, black and a combination of three or four colors.

"Stroudsburg should be very thankful that we are honored by such beautiful guests. They come from Mexico, Central America, Cuba, Lesser Antilles, Greater Antilles, Bahamas, Guianas, Colombia, Peru, Ecuador, Venezuela and Brazil. "This territory is their nesting ground, although some continue their flight to Canada. After flying so many thousands of miles, they build their nests, hatch a family, and by Aug. 1 are on their way home."

When you are planning to use the bacon fat (after frying bacon) for cooking eggs, make sure that you cook the bacon over low heat so the fat stays as white as possible.

It's rhubarb time again

By LINDA PIPHER

STROUDSBURG — It's rhubarb time! If you have never tried rhubarb I hope the recipes today will induce you to experiment so that you learn to enjoy this once-a-year fruit.

Plan to use rhubarb soon after you've cut it from your garden so it retains its full flavor. To stew it so that it will retain its shape and bright pink flavor, wash the stalks of 1½ pounds rhubarb and trim the root ends. Cut into 1 inch pieces, discarding leafy tops. Heat three-fourths cup sugar with ½ cup water and when it boils, add rhubarb and bring back to a full rolling boil.

Don't stir it; remove from heat, cover the pan with a lid, and set aside to cool. The rhubarb will finish cooking in its own heat and each piece will take up enough syrup to make it sparkly plump. Serve cold or chilled.

Rhubarb can also be cooked in the oven. Put a pound of one inch slices in a baking pan or 1½ quart casserole. Sprinkle with three-fourths cup sugar. Cover (use foil if you don't have a lid) and bake in a slow 300 degrees oven for 30 minutes or until rhubarb is tender when tested with a fork.

If you would like to add a little something extra, after the rhubarb is cooked, add 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind and a dash of ginger, or ½ teaspoon nutmeg, or 2 teaspoons grated orange rind.

Toast bread cubes in oven for this rhubarb crisp while you're measuring other ingredients. Corn flakes are used, too, to make a nutritious family dessert.

RHUBARB CRISP

½ cup soft butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
2 eggs
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon vanilla flavoring
1½ cups toasted small bread cubes
2 cups corn flakes
4 cups fresh rhubarb

Blend butter and ½ cup sugar thoroughly; add eggs and beat well. Stir in nutmeg, vanilla, bread cubes, and corn flakes. Place half of mixture in buttered 1½ quart baking dish; spread rhubarb evenly over top and sprinkle with remaining ½ cup sugar. Cover with remaining corn flakes mixture. Bake in 375 degrees oven about 35 minutes or until rhubarb is done. Yields 6 servings.

Here's a quickie dessert to make with fresh rhubarb and a box of cake mix:

RHUBARB UPSIDE DOWN CAKE

3 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
½ cup sugar
Red food coloring
1 pound rhubarb, finely diced (about 3 cups)

1 package loaf-size white cake mix
Combine melted butter, sugar, and a few drops red food coloring. Add rhubarb; toss lightly; spread in 8 inch square cake pan. Prepare cake mix according to package directions; pour over fruit. Bake in a moderate 375 degrees oven about 35 minutes or till cake tests done. Remove cake from oven; immediately run spatula around edge of pan and invert onto serving plate. Before lifting off the pan, let syrup drain onto cake 3 to 5 minutes. Cut while warm; top each serving with a dollop of whipped cream and a walnut half. Yields 6 to 8 servings.

Rhubarb can be frozen either by putting uncooked chunks in plastic containers without sugar, or syrup, or it can be cooked first and then frozen in plastic containers. Of course by doing the latter you will save freezer space and will have it already to eat when you defrost container.

Try this salad while fresh rhubarb is in season:

PINEAPPLE RHUBARB RING

1 No. 2 can (2½ cups) pineapple
tiddits

2 cups 1 inch slices fresh rhubarb
One-third cup sugar
½ cup water
Two 3 oz. packages cherry flavored gelatin
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup broken pecans

Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Combine rhubarb, sugar, and water; cover and cook just till tender, about 5 minutes. Drain thoroughly, reserving syrup. Combine pineapple and rhubarb syrups; add water to make 3½ cups. Heat to boiling; add gelatin and stir to dissolve. Add lemon juice; cool. Chill till partially set. Fold in rhubarb, pineapple, and nuts; pour into 6 cup ring mold. Chill till firm. Unmold on greens. Pass mayonnaise. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

You can use your own pastry recipe or pie crust mix to make pastry. This is for a just-plain-good rhubarb pie with fresh rhubarb and a hint of spice. Some people like to add a handful of raisins to cook along with the rhubarb.

RHUBARB PIE

Pastry for one nine-inch double crust pie
2 pounds rhubarb (about 6 cups)

2 cups sugar
4 tablespoons flour
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon cream
Cinnamon-sugar

Roll out half pastry to a 12 inch round and fit into a deep 9 inch pie plate. Wash, trim ends, and cut rhubarb into 1 inch pieces to measure about 6 cups. Place in bowl and sprinkle with sugar and flour; toss lightly to mix. Spoon into pie shell and dot with butter or margarine. Roll out remaining pastry to an 11 inch round. Put on top of rhubarb, pinch and flute edges. Prick holes in center to allow steam to escape. Brush top with cream; sprinkle evenly with cinnamon sugar. Bake in a hot 425 degrees oven for 40 minutes, until pastry is golden and juices bubble up. Cool completely before cutting.

Don't put a top on a rhubarb custard pie; either make a one crust pie or a lattice top.

RHUBARB CUSTARD PIE

1 cup sugar
1½ tablespoons flour
¼ cup water
One-eighth teaspoon salt
1 pound rhubarb cut in three-fourths inch pieces (4 cups)

Pastry for 2 crust pie (if making lattice top)

1 six oz. can evaporated milk (two-thirds cup)
3 slightly beaten eggs
½ cup sugar

Combine the 1 cup sugar, the flour, nutmeg, and salt; toss with rhubarb till pieces are evenly coated. Let stand about 15 minutes; spoon into pastry lined pie plate. Combine evaporated milk, eggs, and the ½ cup sugar; pour over rhubarb. Top with lattice crust. Flute edges. Bake in a very hot 450 degrees oven for 15 minutes; reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 25 to 30 minutes longer.

Three suffer crash injuries near Hawley

HAWLEY — Three persons were injured Wednesday at 9:30 a.m. in a three-car crash on Route Six near here. All were taken to Wayne Memorial Hospital in Hawley where they were treated and released.

Injured were Adeline Wuest, 57, of Hawley; Norman John, 25, of Pearl River, N.Y.; and Milton Langdon, 83, of Scranton. According to State Police at Milford, the Wuest car was traveling east on Route Six and attempted to pass a slow moving tractor-trailer, that was almost off the highway when John saw the Wuest car coming toward him.

John applied his brakes and the two cars collided. The Langdon vehicle struck the rear of the John car. State Police estimate damage at $500 to the Wuest car, $1,000 to the John vehicle.

Born in East Stroudsburg, she was a daughter of the late Calvin and Minna Coffman VanNess VanWhy. She was the widow of Parley Pipher.

Mrs. Pipher had lived in Easton for many years. She returned to Monroe County three months ago.

She was a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, Class of 1905, and had taught in Ansonia, Pa., Moscow, Pa., Garfield, N.J., Perth Amboy, N.J., and Easton, Pa.

Mrs. Pipher was a member of the Retired Teachers' Association of Easton and Olivet Presbyterian Church, Easton. She was active in the Easton YMCA.

She is survived by a sister, Mrs. Helen Meyers, Easton, and several nieces and nephews.

Services will be held Saturday at 2 p.m. in the Lanterman Funeral Home with the Rev. Harry H. Maue officiating.

Burial will be in Prospect Cemetery, East Stroudsburg.

Gypsy moth spraying starts today

STROUDSBURG — The United States Department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, will spray insecticide for gypsy moth control on 10 blocks of forest land located in the counties of Monroe, Pike, and Wayne.

Spraying will be conducted under authority of the Pennsylvania Governor's Pesticide Committee and the Federal Committee on Pest Control.

Spraying will begin in the Milford area today, weather permitting, and will continue in Pike County for approximately two weeks.

Spraying is scheduled to begin in Monroe County of Friday and last for approximately a week. A second spraying will be held in about 10 days.

The gypsy moth is a serious insect pest whose caterpillars can strip the leaves from entire forests thus weakening or killing many valuable trees. Current treatments are part of a continuing effort to protect Pennsylvania forests from damage by this insect invader.

Spray airplanes will operate from dawn until about 10 a.m. on days when weather conditions are suitable.

Single and twin-engine aircraft flying just above the tree tops will apply the insecticide. Sevin at the rate of one pound in one gallon of water, per acre. A small amount of Pinolene is added to the solution as a sticker. When used at the prescribed rate, this solution is not hazardous to people, pets, domestic animals, fish or wildlife, department spokesmen said.

However, all persons are urged to stay under cover while spray aircraft are operating nearby to avoid getting spray material on skin or clothing.

Gap planner takes issue with remarks

DELAWARE WATER GAP — Rodney Baechtold, a member of the Stroudsburg School Board and Delaware Water Gap Planning Commission, Tuesday, took exception to remarks credited to him during a meeting of the Delaware Borough Council Monday night.

Baechtold, attending the council session as a private citizen, denies making several statements which were credited to him in a story covering the meeting session.

The president of the planning commission said he felt that Burkheimer Associates of Bangor, in all probability, would be appointed to collect the newly enacted one per cent earned income tax.

Indications from Burkheimer Associates is that the collection of the tax will be six per cent for the first year and diminishing by one-half per cent per year until it reaches a minimum amount.

Baechtold said that he never mentioned East Stroudsburg Borough Council and a desire to share the earned income tax at a 50-50 ratio with the school board. "I have no knowledge of East Stroudsburg affairs," he said.

Club sponsors hotdog contest

STROUDSBURG — The Modern Sportsmen's Club of Stroudsburg will sponsor a hotdog contest for area children, ages 3-13, at the Third Street Playground, Saturday, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Hotdogs and buns will be donated by the I.G.A. Food Store and Jack's Market.

Judge grants two divorces

STROUDSBURG — Two decrees of divorce have been handed down in Monroe County Court by President Judge Arlington W. Williams.

Divorce was granted to Shirley M. Ace, Delaware Water Gap, from Wallace G. Ace, East Stroudsburg, on a charge of indignities.

The couple was married Sept. 29, 1948.

A decree was granted to Gloria J. Willet, Stroudsburg R.D. 3, from Wayne A. Willet, East Stroudsburg, also charging indignities.

The pair was married January 30, 1954.

Marines seek young men

STROUDSBURG — The Marine Corps is in immediate need of young men between the ages of 17 and 20 who are willing to accept the challenges of being a Marine, Ssgt. James Nunes, local Marine Recruiter, said Sunday.

Young men who are qualified are given four months of intensive training before being assigned to a permanent station or to one of the many formal schools available.

Marines serve in all 50 states, on board ships, with American Embassies or deployed with Fleet Marine Force, the fighting arm of the Corps.

The Marine Corps offers training, travel and adventure plus an opportunity to serve with the finest military organization in the world.

Qualified young men who think they qualify to become a part of America's Force in Readiness can receive more information by contacting Ssgt. James Nunes in the Stroudsburg Post Office any weekday between 10 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

HOW HOT IS OIL HEAT?

OIL HEATS WATER
THREE TIMES FASTER THAN GAS—FOURTEEN
TIMES FASTER THAN ELECTRICITY, BECAUSE
OIL HEAT GENERATES
MORE HEATING UNITS
IN LESS TIME THAN
GAS OR ELECTRICITY.
WITH GAS HEAT IT
TAKES 2 3/4 MORE
HOURS TO PROVIDE
100 GALLONS OF HOT WATER.

THE COMPARISON BETWEEN OIL HEAT AND ELECTRIC HEAT IS EVEN MORE DRAMATIC. WITH ELECTRIC HEAT IT TAKES 13 1/2 MORE HOURS TO PROVIDE 100 GALLONS OF HOT WATER.

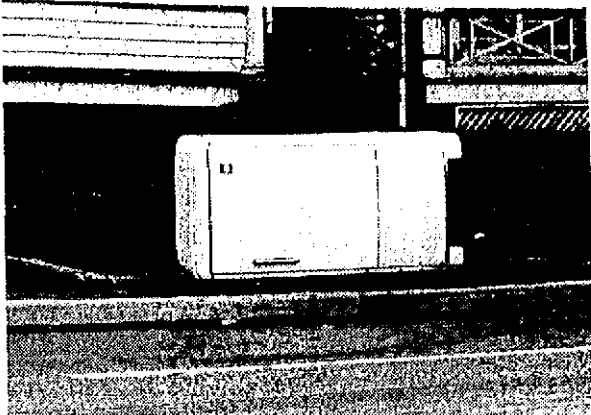

TO PROVIDE THE SAME HEATING UNITS CONTAINED IN A SINGLE GALLON OF OIL, IT TAKES 140 CUBIC FOOT CONTAINER OF NATURAL GAS, OR 40,000 WATTS OF ELECTRICITY.

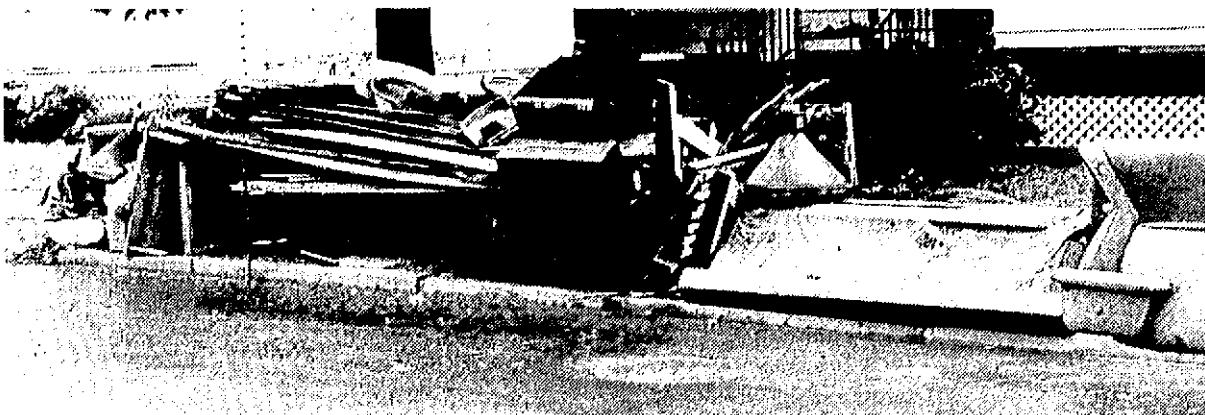

OIL HEAT IS THE HOTTEST (AND MOST ECONOMICAL) WATER HEAT YOU CAN BUY. YOU CAN RUN A HOT WATER TAP 24 HOURS DAY AND NIGHT—WITH OIL HEAT—AND ALWAYS HAVE HOT WATER. NO OTHER FUEL CAN ACCOMPLISH THIS.

West End fire ruins cottage

GILBERT — Fire completely destroyed a two-story, wooden summer home and damaged another cottage about 20 feet away Tuesday at 5:12 p.m. at Weir Lake in Gilbert.

Firemen from West End Fire Co., Brodheadsville, and Trachville battled the blaze for more than two hours before it was completely extinguished.

"The building was engulfed in flames when we arrived, it was too far gone," Glen Snyder, West End fire chief, said Tuesday night.

"The fire started in the rear corner of the building in what appears to be a pump house and from there it spread throughout the entire house," Snyder continued.

"The home is owned by Edwin Miller of Walnutport, R.D., and I haven't been able to contact him yet. I don't know if it is insured, or for how much. I have estimated damage at approximately $10,000. The entire house is gutted. It's a total loss.

"Twenty feet away is another cottage owned by Walter Kuhns of Allentown. This building received an estimated $1,500 damage.

"The side next to the fire was completely charred and furniture on the front porch had the paint blistered. Then as we were fighting the fire, fire broke out in the peak of the Kuhns' cottage, but we quickly extinguished it before it caused damage.

Hamilton to enact wage tax

SAYLORSBURG — The Hamilton Township Supervisors will enact the one per cent earned income tax on an 80-20 per cent division with the Stroudsburg Area School Board.

Supervisor chairman Ray L. Mackes said Tuesday night that the supervisors have reached an informal agreement on the split.

He said no date has yet been set for an official meeting to take action on the proposal but repeated that Hamilton has already advertised its intent to enact the tax.

Mackes said the first year revenue is expected to be $5,000.

Mary Wydra valedictorian

E-burg selects top scholars

EAST STROUDSBURG — Mary Wydra, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Woodrow Wydra, East Stroudsburg, has been named valedictorian of the class of 1968 at East Stroudsburg Area High School.

Principal Ralph O. Borrows also announced that Salvatore Miraglia, son of Mr. and Mrs.

Salvatore Miraglia, East Stroudsburg, has been named salutatorian.

Miss Wydra has been active in the Student Council, FTA, glee club, cheerleading, and is a member of the National Honor Society, named vice-president of the organization in her senior year.

Following graduation, Miss Wydra plans to attend either East Stroudsburg State College or Lock Haven State College, majoring in mathematics.

Miraglia has served as sophomore class president, vice-president of the Glee Club in his Junior year, president of the National Honor Society in his senior year, and editor of the East Stroudsburg school newspaper.

He plans to attend Lehigh University following graduation, this June.

Jury finds man guilty of assault

STROUDSBURG — A Cresco man was found guilty on charges of assault and battery in Monroe County Court Tuesday after a jury of eight women and four men spent only ten minutes deciding its verdict.

John E. Fish, represented by Edwin Krawitz, was charged with the complaint by his wife, Violet R. Fish, after an argument at a local service club allegedly led to blows in the Fish home.

Judge Arlington W. Williams deferred sentence.

John Q. Thurmond, Stroudsburg, represented by Attorney Walter Olenick, was deferred sentence pending pre-sentence investigation.

EAST STROUDSBURG — Remember that old song, "Shave and a haircut, two bits"?

Well, times have changed. Now the haircut alone costs 16 bits.

Barber's Local 555 of Stroudsburg, Tuesday night voted to increase the price of haircuts 25 cents.

With the new price going into effect Tuesday, May 21, children's price goes from $1.50 to $1.75 and adult's from $1.75 to two dollars.

Woman gives birth after taxi crash

STROUDSBURG — Mrs. Carol Duncan and her baby will have something to add to the many stories of a woman headed for the hospital to give birth.

Mrs. Duncan of 1000 Elder St., Stroudsburg, called a taxi cab to take her to the General Hospital of Monroe County. The cab arrived and everything seemed normal.

However, when the cab crossed the intersection of Seventh and Ann Streets, something went wrong.

The cab Mrs. Duncan was riding in was struck by another cab and a third cab had to be called to finish transporting the mother-to-be to the hospital.

A son was born at 7:22 p.m.

Police and the hospital report that Mrs. Duncan was not injured.

Now get your program. Driver of the first cab was George B. Henry of Stroudsburg R.D. 1, driver of the second cab was Ralph Hayes of East Stroudsburg, and driver of the third cab was Vinton Treible of East Stroudsburg R.D. 2.

The accident occurred at 1:42 p.m. and police estimate total damage at $775.

Earlier police were called to 311 N. Eighth Street to investigate a two-vehicle accident. They reported no injuries.

According to police, Joseph DeRenzis of Stroudsburg, driving a truck, turned into an alley to get to his place of business. He saw the road was blocked and backed out into the street and into a truck driven by Fred Lippi of Stroudsburg.

Police estimate damage at $75.

Two injured during crash

EAST STROUDSBURG — Two men were injured Tuesday at 12:35 a.m. in a two-car crash in the intersection of Washington and S. Courtland Streets, East Stroudsburg.

Both were taken to General Hospital of Monroe County where one was admitted and the other treated and released.

Admitted was Paul Wanger, 27, of 360 Normal St., East Stroudsburg. Treated and released was Fred J. Baird, 25, of 41 N. Green St., East Stroudsburg.

Singles out electric homes

TAMMONT — Congressman John D. Dingell (D. Mich.) rapped public utilities when he promised further investigation of electrically heated "Gold Medallion Homes" in a speech delivered to 400 Pennsylvania fuel oil jobbers at Tamiment Tuesday.

Addressing a Joint Convention of Pennsylvania Petroleum and Fuels Assoc. and the Greater Philadelphia Fuel Conference, Rep. Dingell, chairman of the U.S. House of Representatives' Small Business Committee, said his subcommittee has received numerous complaints from home buyers on Gold Medallion Homes.

"Home buyers buying Gold Medallion Homes do not always receive what the gold medallion implies," Dingell said. "A great number of electrical utilities utilized this program, and it has received substantial, overwhelming advertising support in all the media."

The Congressman revealed that home buyers have complained that a Gold Medallion Home "is deficient with respect to insulation, lighting or in other important respects."

"Home buyers have sometime gone to the public utility and said, 'Since you certified this as a Gold Medallion Home, is it not your responsibility to now make additions and corrections as may be required to make the home comply with your standard?'"

"Unbelievably, we find that the utilities' answer to this consumer request is frequently, 'No, we are not liable.'"

"Even though the gold medallion says on its face, not 'Caveat Emptor' (buyer beware) but, 'Live Better Electrically,' the consumer is sometimes told that as a buyer it was his duty to beware."

Rep. Dingell assured the convention members that the "Subcommittee shall explore fully as to whether this constitutes a deceptive practice."

He said, "We shall call upon the Federal Trade Commission and the regulatory agencies of 80-20 income tax cut

E.S. council, schools agree

EAST STROUDSBURG — The East Stroudsburg Borough Council Tuesday night tentatively agreed to allow the East Stroudsburg School District an 80 per cent share of a proposed one per cent earned income tax in the borough.

Legally the borough was entitled up to 50 per cent of the new tax. Meeting unofficially in the session called by councilman George Stettler, council said it would go along with the 80-20 percentage division, but added that the division could be changed in January when council prepares its budget.

The unofficial agreement ends several weeks of haggling between the school board and council on what course of action should be taken. Originally it was decided that the borough would take 50 per cent of the tax. An offer of 60-40 was later turned down.

Council then adopted the tax on its own.

According to school board president Irving Sommer the 80 per cent would bring the district $144,000, enough to compensate for the $143,000 needed by the district without a millage increase in other taxes.

Sommer told council that this year's budget increased $189,000 with additional revenue only bringing in $46,000 of the sum.

The school board president said that the original budget increase was more than $350,000 but had been pared down to the present figure.

The East Stroudsburg Borough Council has already passed an ordinance enacting the tax but mayor Thomas Kistler withheld his signature pending further study and what he termed a justification of the tax.

Tuesday night, Kistler said, he is willing to sign the ordinance now with the understanding that the 80-20 percentage has been at least tentatively agreed upon.

Council will hold a special meeting May 27 at 7:30.

First support during Tuesday's informal session for the split came from Stettler and was quickly followed by W. Jack Wallie.

Wade Arnt and councilman Kenneth Knierim were not present at the session.

54th banquet held

Youth symbol of 'Y' report

STROUDSBURG — The value of youth and organizations supporting youth was the theme of the 54th annual YMCA Report Banquet held at the Monroe County YMCA Tuesday night.

J. Donald Shreve, executive director of Junior Achievement Inc., in the Lehigh Valley, was the guest speaker and explained the work of JA among high school youngsters in the United States.

The organization assists high school students in learning the "ins-and-outs" of business and an understanding of corporations and their operation.

Michael Vasievich, a senior at Easton High, also spoke and explained the operation of the company of which he was a member in the Junior Achievement project this year.

Ned Frick, the retiring president of the YMCA, passed the gavel to incoming president Richard Frantz and also thanked the entire organization for its cooperation. Frantz, in turn, presented a plaque to Frick as a token of thanks.

Gerald Nelson, executive director of the Northeast District, explained the outstanding records compiled by YMCA interests in Monroe County, including Stroudsburg and the Barreil and Mount Pocono branches.

The "Little Red Vest" annual award for the winning membership team, was signed by Rev. Peter Emmons, Frantz, and Dr. Nathan Meyer.

Peirce Harley, executive director of the YMCA, presented the annual membership and financial report and it was unanimously accepted by the 50 people in attendance at the dinner meeting.

Robert L. Clark, first vice president, served as toastmaster and introduced a number of guests.

Organ music was supplied by David Burris; accordion selections, Cheryl Burris; piano solo, David Snyder, and a sextette, David Thomas, David Metropoulos, Eddie VanGorder, David Snyder, Robert Miller and Gregory Veney, was scheduled to sing.

Rev. M. L. Williams, pastor of the Bethel AME Church, drove from Philadelphia to deliver the invocation.

Turn signals off in crash

STROUDSBURG — According to William Gadatz of Delaware Water Gap, involved in a truck-motorcycle accident, Friday, at the foot of Foxtown Hill, the truck driven by Richard Court-right of 1128 Dreher Ave., Stroudsburg, did not have its direction signals on at the time of the crash.

Stroudsburg Borough Police say they have "several witnesses" who saw the accident and claim the direction signals were not in operation.

the several states to take such actions as may be required to assure the nation's home buyer that, when he buys a Gold Medallion Home, he will receive a house that fully complies with the very excellent standards contained in the Gold Medallion Brochure."

The Congressman also noted that small business contractors in the plumbing field have been forced, upon occasion, to pay a sort of "under the table" royalty to employees of local utilities.

Mets' Ryan whiffs 14 Redlegs

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie Nolan Ryan hurled a four-hitter and set a club record of 14 strikeouts Tuesday night as the New York Mets edged Cincinnati 3-2 on a disputed two-run triple by Art Shamsky.

Ryan struck out five of the last six batters to nail his fourth victory in six decisions and take the National League strikeout lead with a season total of 58. His 14 strikeouts broke by two the Mets' record for a nine-inning game set by Tom Seaver last year.

Bases-empty homers by Tony Perez and Lee May and singles by Perez and Pete Rose were the only hits off the 21-year-old right-hander.

The Mets scored all their runs in the third when Ryan beat out an infield single—the first hit of his career—and went to second on Bud Harrelson's single to right.

After Ken Boswell flied out, Shamsky sent a towering fly down the right-field line that Rose got his glove on at the fence before it fell for a three-base hit.

Cincinnati Manager Dave Bristol argued that the ball was foul, but first base Umpire Mel Steiner, closest to the play, judged that Rose had been in fair territory when he touched it. Shamsky then scored on Ron Swoboda's single to left.

USAC spent $84,000 to win suit

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The U.S. Auto Club said Tuesday it spent more than $84,000 to defend its new turbine engine rules in a federal court suit filed by turbocar owner Andy Granatelli.

USAC won the suit April 6. Meanwhile, the fifth crash occurred in practice for the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

Bruce Walkup of Downey, Calif., hit the wall with his turbocharged Offenhauser. He was unhurt but the right front and rear of his car were damaged.

Thomas W. Binford, USAC president, said the racing group's executive committee reviewed the fees incurred in the federal court suit and decided they were reasonable.

The executive committee, he said, will recommend to the full USAC board an immediate membership assessment and probably a dues increase to help defray cost of the month-long trial at Indianapolis.

Bosox top Senators on wild throw

BOSTON (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski raced home on a throwing error by catcher Paul Casanova in the 10th inning Tuesday night, giving the Boston Red Sox a 5-4 victory over the Washington Senators.

Joe Foy opened the 10th with a triple to right center field off Dennis Higgins. The Senators' reliever then walked Yastrzemski and Reggie Smith intentionally, filling the bases with none out.

USAC spent $84,000 to win suit

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The U.S. Auto Club said Tuesday it spent more than $84,000 to defend its new turbine engine rules in a federal court suit filed by turbocar owner Andy Granatelli.

USAC won the suit April 6. Meanwhile, the fifth crash occurred in practice for the Indianapolis 500-mile race.

Bruce Walkup of Downey, Calif., hit the wall with his turbocharged Offenhauser. He was unhurt but the right front and rear of his car were damaged.

Thomas W. Binford, USAC president, said the racing group's executive committee reviewed the fees incurred in the federal court suit and decided they were reasonable.

The executive committee, he said, will recommend to the full USAC board an immediate membership assessment and probably a dues increase to help defray cost of the month-long trial at Indianapolis.

Dancer's Image not shadow boxing

BALTIMORE (AP) — Peter Fuller, a former amateur boxer and fight manager, threw a couple of oral jobs Tuesday that indicated strongly his Dancer's Image will run in the Preakness Saturday at Pimlico.

"I can't say anything in view of the hearings in Kentucky, but we're training the horse and I can assure you we are not shadow boxing," Fuller said after watching Dancer's Image work three-eighths of a mile in 36 2-5 seconds and gallop out the half in 53 2-5.

After Dancer's Image had been disqualified from first and placed last in the Kentucky Derby, when tests disclosed a trace of an anti-inflammatory drug in the colt's system, Fuller said he would not enter the Preakness if his trainer, Lou Cavalari, was suspended by the Kentucky Stewards.

However, Cavalari has said he wants Dancer's Image to run in the second jewel of the Triple Crown no matter what his status as a trainer, and Fuller apparently has had second thoughts on the matter.

Cavalari also was on hand for Tuesday's workout and said "just what I ordered. No complaints at all, just perfect."

Fuller and Cavalari were in Kentucky for the stewards' hearing Monday and were scheduled to be in Louisville again Wednesday. The hearing continued Tuesday without them.

Meanwhile, four other hopefuls of the probable Preakness field of 12 also worked out.

Calumet Farm's Forward Pass, made the Derby winner after Dancer's Image was disqualified, went an easy six furlongs in 1:13 2-5.

"I was well satisfied," said trainer Henry Forrest. "He handled the track right well. That will be all until the big race except for the daily gallops and perhaps a blowout Friday."

Al Lippe's Frankie's hat, third across the Derby finish line, went seven furlongs in 1:28 2-5, causing trainer Jimmy Conway to remark:

"He looks even better than he did in the Derby. He looked like he handled the track real well. Frankie again will ride. He seems to do a better job riding the colt each time he is up. Yes, I feel right good over our prospects Saturday."

The other two working out were Poleax and Sir Beau. Poleax, owned by W.R. "Fritz" Hawn, went on mile in 1:40 3-5, and Richard Dufour's and Joseph Richards' Sir Beau was sent seven furlongs in 1:27 1-5.

Other probable starters are Charles Eengelhard's Jig Time, Mrs. Mildred Beall's Martins Jig, Gene Goff's Nodouble, Robert J. Kleberg's Out Of The Way, Hubert Phipps' Ringmaster.

Aaron's homer helps Reed stop Phillies

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Rookie Ron Reed pitched a five-hitter for his fourth straight victory as the Atlanta Braves defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 3-1 Tuesday night with the help of a two-run homer by Hank Aaron.

Reed, a former pro basketball player with the Detroit Pistons, struck out five and walked none in his fourth start and second complete game of the season.

The Braves scored a run off Philadelphia starter Larry Jackson in the second inning on a single by Felipe Alou, an infield out and Felix Millan's single.

In the fifth, Aaron followed a walk to Mike Lum with his ninth home run of the season, a line drive into the upper left field seats. It was the 49th homer for Aaron, who needs three to tie Lou Gehrig for eighth place on the all-time home run list.

The two RBI boosted the Braves' right fielder into 12th place, ahead of T. S. Speaker, on the all-time RBI list with 1,532. Aaron also doubled in the first inning and the two hits in-

Girls Club honors two at banquet

STROUDSBURG — Nancy Shaffer and Bonnie Buzzard received the top awards at the Girls Varsity "S" banquet Tuesday night at Greenview Guest Farms.

Miss Shaffer received the high honor award, the highest awarded in the club, while Miss Buzzard was presented the intra-mural prize.

Former club members Brenda Reish and Valerie Robbins, spoke on their experiences as foreign exchange students.

New officers installed were Gail Messner, president; Beverly Eldridge, vice president; Susan Fisher, secretary, and Lee Ann Strunk, treasurer. Seventeen new members were also installed.

Mrs. Sandra Serfass is the club advisor.

Orioles lose 7th straight

DETROIT (AP) — Willie Horton drove in three runs with a pair of homers and Earl Wilson fired a four-hitter as the American League-leading Detroit Tigers handed Baltimore its seventh straight loss with a 4-0 victory over the Orioles Tuesday night.

Horton hit his seventh homer, a solo shot, off loser Dave McNally, 3-3, in the second and belted his eighth following a walk to Al Kaline in the sixth.

The only other hit off McNally, who went the first six innings, was Ray Oyler's first homer of the season in the third.

Miami is awarded Super Bowl again

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The 1969 Super Bowl football game between champions of the American and National football leagues was awarded Tuesday by club owners to Miami for the second straight year. The game will be played next Jan. 12, in the Orange Bowl, site of the last Super Bowl this past January.

Miami won out over New Orleans in a battle to stage the game, with 25 owners of the two leagues voting for Miami and New Orleans passing.

Football Commissioner Pete Rozelle said that during the closed meeting the owners apparently were impressed by the sellout in the Orange Bowl last January and the over-all cooperation from the City of Miami.

He said, however, that the owners did not indicate that Miami would be the permanent host of the Super Bowl.

The decision was somewhat of a surprise, since there had been speculation that New Orleans was the front-runner.

New Orleans Mayor Vic Schiro, meeting with the owners before they voted, had promised to guarantee a crowd of 80,000 if the Super Bowl were staged in the Sugar Bowl.

However, rental for the Sugar Bowl would have run about $90,000, considerably higher than the $35,000 the Orange Bowl charged last year when it had a sellout of 75,000 fans. The same charge had been promised for the 1969 game.

Miami Mayor Steve Clark said "I'm positively elated. We couldn't be happier in Miami." Clark said he had promised the owners "the same type of cooperation we had last year."

Rozelle said, however, that the owners made it quite clear that they wanted to move the bowl around in the future. He said the Astrodome in Houston might be ranked as a possible future site.

Goossen to get shot at 1st base

NEW YORK (AP) — Gil Hodges plans to give catcher Greg Goossen the same chance that Leo Durocher gave Hodges 20 years ago—a shot at the regular first base job.

It worked wonders for Hodges who took over for a slumping Preston Ward in 1948 when Roy Campanella joined the old Brooklyn Dodgers and remained on first base for 16 more years. Manager Hodges hopes Goossen can do the same for the New York Mets.

"Greg has been swinging the bat real good," said Hodges before Tuesday night's game with Cincinnati. "So we're going to use him at first for the next few days. He certainly has been adequate as a fielding first baseman."

Goossen has been platooning with Ed Kranepool at first base in recent days. However, Hodges left him in Sunday against right-handed Joe Niekro and he got two hits. A delayed relay throw by Kranepool cost the Mets the first game.

At the beginning of the season, Goossen was on Cincinnati's minor league farm club at Indianapolis, on loan from the Mets. He probably would still be there if J. C. Martin hadn't been injured, causing an acute shuffling of catchers at Shea Stadium.

Although Martin has been back on the active list for two weeks, he can't break into the lineup with Jerry Grote hitting .352.

Hodges, who sent Goossen to the Florida Instructional League last winter to begin a new career at first base, found himself with three catchers on his hands. The move that sent Goossen, hitting .341, to first base was obvious, especially with Kranepool batting .212 and with no runs batted in.

"In baseball you've got to be able to take advantage of a good break when it comes along," said Hodges. "The only one I can think of who got a chance to play like Goossen is myself."

Goossen has shortcomings as a catcher, especially in his throwing. The 6-foot-1, 205-pound Californian may be at the turning point of his baseball career.

STROUDSBURG — Back-to-back homers by Ed Strunk and Tim Walsh in the bottom of the seventh inning Tuesday gave Stroudsburg an 8-7 upset win over Whitehall in the Lehigh Valley League.

Steelers send Nelsen to Cleveland

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers traded quarterback Bill Nelsen and his troublesome knees Tuesday in return for defensive help and quarterback Dick Shiner.

Nelsen, sidelined by knee trouble for part of every season since he became a starter, went to the Cleveland Browns with defensive back Jim Bradshaw for defensive tackle Frank Parker, Shiner and a high draft pick.

Parker, a 6-foot-5, 270-pound veteran of seven years with the Browns, also has been troubled by injuries, but Steeler Coach Bill Austin is hoping he has mended.

And Brown owner Art Modell said he's willing to take a chance on Nelsen.

"A change of scenery may do him a world of good."

The Mounties of coach Wilmont Smith trailed 7-6 when they came to bat in the seventh. But Strunk quickly tied the score as he lined Podorsky's first pitch over the fence in deep right center.

Walsh then ended the game with a towering fly over the left field fence.

Stroudsburg was out hit, 13-9, but six of its hits were for extra bases. Mark Williams had two doubles and Scott Barton and Walsh each one.

Whitehall scored twice in the first inning but the Mounties quickly knotted the score in their half of the inning. Two walks and a fielders choice that got no one out loaded the bases for Williams who scored two with his first double.

Players needed in Babe Ruth

STROUDSBURG — It was announced Tuesday night by Ray Silver that several teams in the Monroe County Optimist Babe Ruth League still have openings for players.

Any boy, 13, 14, or 15, interested in playing this summer, can call Silver at 421-6802 after 5 p.m. Next Tuesday is the deadline for registration.

S-burg made it 4-2 in the third on an error, Williams's second run producing and another error that permitted Williams to circle the bases.

The Zephyrs, who started the day tied for second place went in front 5-4 with a three-point in the fifth. But again the Mounties struck back on a single by Dave Shook and back-to-back doubles by Walsh and Barton.

Eagles score five in 2nd to dump Cavs

EAST STROUDSBURG — A five-run second inning carried Nazareth to an easy 9-1 win over East Stroudsburg in the Lehigh-Northampton League's Northern Division, Tuesday.

Cav starter Dave Repsher was touched for only six hits but his males committed nine errors behind him and only three of the Blue Eagle runs were earned.

Eastburg scored its long run in the second inning when it bunched two of its three hits. Don Fritz and Dusty Stauffer each singled and the former scored on Ted LaBadie's infield out.

Opening lead—queen of clubs.
It is a fundamental principle of play that you don't put all your eggs in one basket if you can help it. After all, if you can arrange to give yourself two chances to make a contract instead of one, you are much more likely to succeed in the long run.

This principle of keeping a second method of play in reserve, if the first method is in danger of failing, can be successfully applied far more often than is generally realized. For example, consider this hand where declarer is in five diamonds and West leads the queen of clubs. South's prospects are certainly not bright—it looks as though he must cash the A-K of clubs and ruff a club, and then, assuming he finds the clubs divided 3-3, lead the ace and another diamond in the hope of finding the trumps divided 2-2. If both these hopes mature, South makes the contract with an overtrick.

In the actual case, this method of play fails because the clubs turn out to be divided 4-2 and South must eventually go down one.

However, South can make the contract if he does not rely exclusively on the 3-3 club break. He has a much better chance if he ducks the opening lead of the queen of clubs! Regardless of what West returns, South has the hand under control. Assume West continues with a club. Declarer wins in dummy with the king, ruffs a club, leads the ace and another diamond, and winds up with eleven tricks by cashing dummy's remaining clubs.

The advantage of this method of play—once the necessary assumption of a favorable trump division is made—is that declarer makes the contract not only when the clubs divide 3-3, but also when they are divided 4-2.

The extra chance which declarer gives himself proves to be the decisive factor.

Reppert 40 years in PP&L service

STROUDSBURG — Ralph E. Reppert, Pennsylvania Power and Light Company's Pocono district manager, will observe 40 years with the company on Sunday.

Reppert began his career at the Siegfried Substation in 1928. In 1930 he was transferred to the residential sales department in Catsaqua and, 10 years later, was moved to the commercial sales department in Allentown.

Reppert was promoted to commercial sales supervisor for the Bethlehem Division in 1946 and, three years later, was named to the same position in the Lehigh Division.

Palmerston district

In 1955, he was made Palmerston district manager and, from 1958 to 1962, he was manager of the Bloomsburg District. He has held his present position since 1962.

A native of Coplay, Reppert was graduated from Coplay High School. He studied electrical engineering at Pennsylvania State University Extension Center.

Active in the communities in which he has lived, Reppert also holds responsibilities in several associations in the Stroudsburg area. He is president of the Pocono Mountains Industries; past president, Monroe County Planning and Zoning Commission; immediate past president Monroe County Community Chest and Red Cross, and is vice president of the Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce. He is also on the executive committee of the Northeast Seven County Economic Development Council.

Ralph E. Reppert

Reppert also serves on the New York study committee of the Tucks Island Project.

Mrs. Reppert is the former Margaret Ann Perry of Columbus, Ohio. They have a son Hiram, a junior at Pennsylvania State University, and a daughter, Becky, wife of J. Craig Wilson, of Melville, Ill., and a grandson, J. Douglas Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Reppert live at 515 Thomas St., Stroudsburg.

Preferred dividend

WILMINGTON, Del. — Directors of Getty Oil Co. declared a regular quarterly preferred dividend of 30 cents per share on the company's outstanding cumulative preferred stock.

The dividend is payable July 10 to shareholders of record June 14.

JACK O'BRIAN'S

Voice of Broadway

Hollywood desperately is seeking an 18-year-old "virginal" type to play Luna Turner's daughter in "The Big Cube" and that's the only true shortage of types currently in Hollywood. . . . Rolf Hochhuth's two plays have been attacks on Pope Pius and Winston Churchill; he's so psychological it figures.

Which reminds us somehow of atheist Madelyn Murray who traipses the TV and radio talk-fests attacking God and religion; why she wastes her and our time fighting against Someone she claims isn't there in the first place strikes us as a public performance too silly to get irked at. . . . Incidentally, Hochhuth's Churchill slander simply is a dreary bore.

Our old friend John Cameron Swayze has a claim he doubts will be topped; he bet three horses in a six-nag race and they came in fourth, fifth and sixth. . . . New book ("The Devil Walks on Water") by John F. Murray (kin to Fords and Vanderbilts) will "expose" the Southampton social set. . . . Another upcoming book completely hush-hush to now will list and larrup phony nobility and pretend-royalty in society, business and fashion.

The "Dran Hamilton" who "stands by" for Carol Lawrence in "I Do! I Do!" really is Dran Seitz, twin sister of Tani Seitz

— they made the cover of Life a bit back. . . . G.I.'s in Vietnam complain some of the movies they get were seen six months before they left State-side. . . . Cliff Robertson wants to take a print of his "Charly" to the boys right away; good idea. . . . Dorothy Lamour finally missed one performance of her grueling tour of one-nighters in "Hello, Dolly," with a strep throat; understudy Joan Shea got her big chance and did fine.

The "Hello, Dolly," publisher is being sued again — this time over a Bob Merrill tune alleged too close for comfort (Composer Mack David won a huge claim — said to be more than $250,000 plus further royalties — over the "ow's little tune"). . . . Madelyn Murray might like to know the rock group "The Atheists" just broke up — apparently no one believed in them. . . . Wildest auction ever is promised by the Lincoln Square Neighborhood Centre at its May 21 ball at Cheetah; prizes range from free rent for two apartments for a year — to a "tonsillectomy gratis" by the president's doctor.

The Tony Awards' ovation for Audrey Hepburn was completely unnecessary and therefore how very nice. . . . And what a graceful few words of gratitude for her special "Tony". . . . Yep, she's a member of The Class of 1968. . . . As were Angela Lansbury, Peter Ustinov. . . . The sad state of Bdwy. musicals this past season was emphasized when the thoroughly forgettable musical score for "Hallelujah Baby" won a Tony. . . . And despite Betty Comden's comment that it had a tough time getting put on because it was "controversial," its dramatic content and comment would not have been controversial 30 years ago. Its heart was in the right place — inside one huge cliché.

Big merger is close between London's Hugh French Agency, Inc. and the NEMS Enterprises which $7,500,000 deal would probably create biggest showbiz agency of all (pairing the Burtons and the Beatles, for instance). . . . Assistant Chicago Bears coach Phil Handler's heart attack put Phil into St. Joseph's Hospital. . . . Heavy, heavy hangs under her head: Francoise Hardy just paid $1,000 for a one-piece pants outfit by Paco Rabanne made of 2,000 stainless steel discs (more than 15 pounds.)

Dionne Warwick signed for the Jackie Gleason Show next fall, the last big TV variety she'll do — her sixth; doesn't want to get over-exposed. . . . Marlene Dietrich's crazy about Dionne — gave her a $2,500 beaded outfit. . . . Barry Nelson's direction of "The Only Game in Town" due (starring Barry and Tammy Grimes) on Broadway momentarily isn't Barry's first directional job; he warmed up directing the road troupes of his big hits "The Moon Is Blue" and "Mary,

Mary."

Librarians in chapter conference

SWITZWATER — Local librarians attended the annual conference of Lehigh Valley Chapter, Pennsylvania Library Assn. held at Holiday Inn East at Allentown.

Among those who attended were: Mrs. Elizabeth Kane, Miss Ann Kane, Mrs. Margaret Stabenow and Mrs. Arthur Slee, trustee from the Monroe County Libraries; Mrs. Eleanor Regan and Mrs. Mary Warden from Stroudsburg Area Schools; Mrs. Maryjane Everitt, Pleasant Valley Schools; and Mrs. Hilda Brown, Pocono Mountain Schools.

The Lehigh Valley Chapter of the Pennsylvania Library Assn. included Berks, Carbon, Lehigh, Monroe, Northampton and Schuylkill counties. The moderator for the conference was John Martison, president of the Communication Service Corporation, Washington, D.C. The conference subject was "The Sub-Professional Librarian"—Status and Education.

As stated by Rose L. Vormelker, president of the Library Education Division, American Library Assn.—"Every library—worthy of the name—be it school, college, public or special, needs workers of varying capacities, even of varying professional training finding the right kind of assistance to help the professional librarians function at the level for which their training and abilities fit them, has become one of the professional major problems today."

After the conference, individuals could select from a planned tour of libraries,

Ann Landers

Computer warning

Dear Ann Landers: I noted a somewhat cryptic message in your column today which I suspect was intended for someone who had inquired about computer type mate-matching. May I offer a few words of advice to those who might be considering such a thing — either for a lark or in a serious vein?

I fell for the idea in a weak and foolish moment and I have been kicking myself ever since. All the Computer Matcher did for me was take my money (no small fee) and every month after that (for one year) I received a card (from a computer) saying, "Sorry — nothing yet — maybe next month we will find the one we are looking for."

Unfortunately, there are a great many lonely people in the world who are willing to try anything on the slim chance that they will find someone who will release them from their prison of solitude.

This machine mate-finding gimmick is a con game and I hope it will soon be stopped by law.

ONCE A SUCKER

Dear Sucker: Barnum was right. There's one born every minute, and, I'd like to add — two to take him. Thanks for the non-testimonial.

Dear Ann Landers: I know you believe in psychiatry — and I believe in it, too. But it is not the answer to everything. On occasion you have been big enough to admit when you have been wrong. I hope, for the sake of your millions of readers, you will not hesitate to do so again.

Recently you published a letter from a teen-ager whose mother imagined she smelled odd odors. At first she thought the odor was coming from the plastic — including the telephone. A week later she decided the odor was coming from the walls, so they moved. Within a week she insisted the same odor had followed her to the new home. You suggested that the woman get psychiatric help.

If you had checked out that letter with some of your Harvard Medical School consultants they would have told you imaginary odors can be a symptom of brain tumor. You should have advised the woman to see a physician for a medical examination. Please tell her to do so NOW.

OTTAWA READER

Dear Reader: You are correct and I thank you for calling this to my attention. Many physicians have written to tell me, as you did, that I was wrong. My apologies for the cropper and my thanks to all who wrote.

Dear Ann Landers: When I was 14 I made a big mistake with a older boy. Fortunately I did not get pregnant. I read in your column recently where you said a girl should not tell her fiance about such things. I hope you will not think I am dumb but I would like to know if my fiance will know about my mistake even if I don't tell him. I hope you catch on to what I am talking about. Thank you for your answer.

SIXTEEN BUT NOT SO SWEET

Dear Not So: Yes, I catch on, and the answer is probably not. Sometimes a girl who is totally inexperienced need to undergo minor surgery but this is rare. In most instances there is no physical evidence of virginity.
